Most votes —not elected

By GARY SCHNEIDER

Press-Record Staff Writer
Mrs. Helen Hawkins will not be seated as a trustee of Nameoki Township, Chief Circuit Judge Victor J. Mosele of the Third Judicial Circuit ruled yesterday.

Although she has the right to appeal Mosele's decision, she said she does not plan to at this time, but will use the court's ruling "against the will of the people" as the basis of her campaign to win the Democratic nomination for the Madison County Board seat now held by Louis Whitsell of Nameoki Township.

Mrs. Hawkins was among a group of unsuccessful candidates in the April township election who filed suits challenging the outcome of the election.

A court-ordered recount of the ballots showed she received more legal votes than Trustee Jerry Adams, but subsequent rulings dismissing all of the suits naming her eliminated her from consideration.

Her hopes were kept alive only by a motion to reconsider her position filed by Attorney H. Carl Runge on her behalf. Oral arguments on that motion were to be heard today by Mosele.

Instead, she found out yesterday that Mosele had already dismissed the motion to reconsider her position.

Contacted by the Press-Record yesterday, Mosele said Runge and the opposing attorney, David Adamson III, had told him he could decide the issue based on memorandums from the two attorneys had filed.

"I understand she is screaming bloody murder and is going to all the news media, I studied the memorandums and gave my ruling. She has the right to appeal if she does not agree, and that is all I have to say on that issue," Mosele said.

The ruling on Mrs. Hawkins' motion is the last in the election contest which followed the very close election-night tallies.

Final results of the court-ordered ballot recount show that Harold Davis defeated incumbent supervisor Louis Whitsell by eight votes, 1,535 to 1,527.

Six missing ballots were distributed three each to the assessor candidates, re-electing Carl Maclos over Loren Madison by two votes, 1,492 to 1,490.

The top four vote-getters were supposed to be elected to the township's four trustee positions. Norman Hessel received the top vote tally with 1,557 votes and W. Lee Adams followed with 1,510. Andy Esserman received 1,488. Mrs.

FULFILLS DREAM. But still working hard to further her education is Lupe Arteaga of Mitchell, who graduated last night as a nurse's aide and earned her General Educational Development high school equivalency certificate in August. The mother of nine children had left school 41 years ago while in the fourth grade. She plans to qualify as an LPN (Licensed Practical Nurse).

Dream attained after 41 years

By VALERIE EVENEDEN

Press-Record Staff Writer

"Lupe Arteaga's formal education came to an abrupt halt 41 years ago, but her mind never gave up the promise she made to herself four decades ago — one day she would go back to school."

After raising six younger brothers and sisters and nine children of her own, Lupe eventually found her way to Venice-Lincoln Technical Center in September 1976.

Nine months later she passed the General Education Development high school equivalency test and, in August 1977, she attained her coveted GED certificate.

Last night, Lupe Arteaga was among 13 students at Venice-Lincoln who received their nurse's aide diplomas in graduation ceremonies at the Venice Recreation Center on Broadway.

She is the perfect example of what an adult vocational education program is designed to accomplish and she is very proud of her part in its success.

"I thoroughly enjoyed school. I felt I learned something new every day," Lupe said.

Although school was a happy experience, Lupe admits "Some times it was very hard. I felt I had so much to accomplish."

"There were many times that I wondered if I would ever be able to pass the GED test," she said.

Lupe did pass it with points to spare after making pretty good grades.

When she started at Venice-Lincoln she could add — "because I'd had to do the shopping." She could neither multiply nor divide numbers. She credits her achievement to the "great teachers at Venice-Lincoln."

The new nurse's aide has a pleasant speaking voice and she is articulate, especially when discussing her experiences at Venice-Lincoln.

Apparent drowning

Dragging operations in the Mississippi River were halted at 2 p.m. yesterday after rescue workers searched two days for the body of a Granite City man who disappeared in the water at the northern tip of Mosestein Island at mid-day on Monday.

Missing is Robert P. McCosky, 33, of 2818 Victory Drive, who had gone fishing Monday.

His small fishing boat and personal items recovered at the scene have been returned to his relatives.

An employee of the St. Louis public waterworks plant on Riverview Drive told authorities he saw a man with a boat on the rocks at the northern tip of the island and watched as the boat began to drift away in the current of the Mississippi River.

The employee said the man took off his outer clothing and waded out into the river, attempting to retrieve the boat, he disappeared beneath the cold water and did not reappear, the witness said.

Using boats and a St. Louis County Police helicopter, authorities went onto the island and found the man's clothing, which contained the identification papers of a Granite City man.

The U.S. Coast Guard and the Alton and Wood River volunteer rescue squads, aided by the helicopter, searched for the man from 5 p.m. Monday until darkness and dragging operations resumed at sunrise Tuesday.

The cold and shivering rescue workers took turns dragging the

MISS EVELYN BOWLES

Nobody doesn't like Evelyn...

Everybody likes Evelyn Bowles, Madison County clerk since 1974 — including the Madison County Democratic Central Committee executive board.

"She has done an outstanding job in cooperating with the County Board and in providing services to the people and she deserves re-election," County Democratic Chairman Nelson Hagnauer said after a meeting of the countywide group Monday night at Charlie's Restaurant.

Miss Bowles did not attend any of last weekend's candidate interviews, and said she would not agree to support the party's county ticket in advance without knowing who would be on it.

Unlike others endorsed Tuesday night, she wasn't asked for a commitment to support the other candidates, nor for funds to help meet campaign costs.

Miss Bowles, an active Democrat, said Tuesday, "I am

Bearing out reports earlier this week that Sheriff John Maestas has made no decision as to his candidacy in the 1978 primary election, the Madison County Democratic Central Committee passed over endorsements for both the sheriff and treasurer offices in a slate-making session here Monday night.

The executive board of the county Democratic committee did vote endorsements for other county and legislative district posts and said it will hold another meeting later, perhaps next week, to decide on endorsements for the sheriff and treasurer offices.

Nelson Hagnauer, chairman of the county Democratic committee, said he expects endorsements for the two offices to be made before Dec. 19, which is the filing deadline for the March 21 primary election. Reservations may be made by County Clerk Evelyn Bowles was endorsed by the organization as the candidate for county clerk, although Miss Bowles made no appearance before the Democratic screening committee. She said she did not intend to make any commitments and therefore would avoid the interview process.

William "Bill" Johnson of Edwardsville, who has law offices in Granite City, was given the endorsement for nomination as judge in the Third Judicial Circuit.

Miss Bowles won election in 1974 without the endorsement of the county organization, while Johnson, a former associate judge, failed in retention in that post in 1975.

The committee also announced the endorsement of Jail groundbreaking Tuesday—if

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer
If Granite City can obtain an acceptable negotiated bid for construction of the proposed police station and city jail complex, ground will be broken for the project Tuesday, City Council members were informed in a regular meeting last night.

Otherwise, the sidewalkers were told, the city will lose its $744,000 federal grant under the Public Works Act.

The problem of an immediate beginning on construction results from a requirement of the Economic Development Administration, which awarded the city the federal grant to help finance the job, that Public Works projects must begin within 90 days after a grant is awarded.

Monroe Brewer, city engineer, told the council, however, that city officials had conferred with three general construction bidders and that he was satisfied "something will be worked out."

The council will meet in a special session at 7 p.m. Monday to act on negotiated bids that are to be opened at 3 p.m. Monday in the office of City Clerk Robert Stevens.

"If we can get a contract authorized Monday night, then the contractor will break ground Tuesday morning and we will comply with the deadline," Brewer said.

Granite City's efforts to build a new police station and jail were developed in mid-1976 when Mayor Paul Schuler sought a $1.6 million grant under the first Public Works Act to build a new municipal building that would include the police facilities.

The city failed to receive any grant under the first program, but was awarded $870,000 in June this year in a second round of Public Works projects directed by the EDA. The grant later was increased to $744,000. In subsequent action, the city obtained design plans for a police and jail complex estimated to cost $782,000. M.W. Architects & Engineers, St. Louis planning firm handling the city planning for the project, prepared the design plans and estimated the cost at $734,119.

Bids were opened Nov. 9 at the city clerk's office, with three contractors bidding on the general construction work. Other bids were on floor covering and security equipment.

The lowest combination of bids, however, brought the cost to $685,396 which was $23,277, or 34 per cent, over the engineer's estimate. This offer was considered too high for the city to meet the extra cost.

At that time, Mayor Paul Schuler suggested that the city attempt to obtain an extension of time on the deadline from EDA. Contact with EDA officials was made by Brewer.

The engineer told the council last night that EDA had approved a proposal to negotiate with the three general construction bidders to determine

Operate state like a business—Dixon

A call for fiscal responsibility by governmental agencies was issued here Tuesday afternoon by the top Illinois Democratic officeholder.

Like any successful business, Illinois' state government must hold down expenses to the level of income, Alan J. Dixon, secretary of state, said at his week's meeting of the Granite City Rotary Club at the YMCA. His topic was "State Business Is Your Business."

The Belleville Democrat is a candidate for re-election in 1978. "Government is the nation's largest business," Dixon told the club. "It has been growing constantly during my own 33 years in public service."

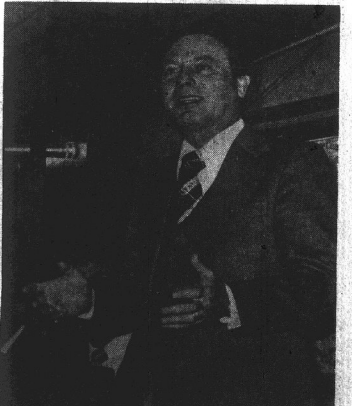

"State and local government taxes have been going up faster than federal taxes even including Social Security taxes, which more than doubled in the last 10 years."

"According to the Census Bureau, governments at all

Local films to be shown at library

Public Library Staff
On Wednesday, Nov. 30, at 7 p.m., Dick Taylor will show two of his locally made films, "Comic Book" and "The Thing in the Basement," in the Children's Room of the Granite City Public Library. The film "The Thing in the Basement" recently was shown on KSD Channel 5.

Taylor has received publicity also for his new feature-length film, "Stingray," which was shot locally. Scenes from this film involving high-speed car chases through Edwardsville and a nationally known stunt man jumping off McKinley Bridge have been given attention in newspapers and on television.

In addition to showing his films, Taylor will talk about filmmaking. This event is the third in the Children's Department's "Windows of the World" series of lectures and performances for children. It is free and open to the public.

NEW ITEMS: "Super Thrusts: How to Sound Like a Lawyer and Get Your Rights on Your Own" tells the consumer how to outwit and win when dealing with crafty car salesmen, hard-to-nail-down mail-order outfit, overbearing landlords, rip-off repairmen, and other threats to one's pocketbook and sanity. The book was written by John M. Strick and Andrew J. Shapiro, both practicing attorneys in New York City.

In "Styenes: What It Is, What to Do About It," Stanford University psychologist Philip G. Zimbardo examines how and why people become shy and looks at the roles that parents, teachers, spouses and society in general play in generating shyness. In addition, he provides techniques for overcoming this all-too-common problem.

"Adlai Stevenson and the World" by John Bartlow Martin covers Stevenson's career following his first campaign for the presidency in 1952 through his death in 1965, years during which Stevenson stood for many as the guardian and spokesman of the American conscience. This is the conclusion to Martin's earlier work, "Adlai Stevenson of Illinois," also owned by the public library.

Alvin Moscow tells the story of the Rockefeller family in "The Rockefeller Inheritance," focusing on the five brothers—John D. 3rd, Nelson, Laurance, Winthrop, and David.

The book is based on interviews with the five brothers themselves and with their friends and business associates. The author also had access to the Rockefeller family archives and spent eight years preparing and researching this book.

Sr. hot line—Social Security work credit

Office of Lieutenant Governor
Dave O'Neal

Q. How much work credit would a woman need to get retirement benefits on her own work record?

A. The exact amount of Social Security credit a woman would need to receive retirement benefits would depend on when she reached 62.

If she is 62 in 1977, for example, she would need credit for 6½ years of work covered under Social Security to be eligible for retirement benefits.

No one ever needs credit for more than 10 years of work to be insured for retirement checks. The Springfield Social Security office can furnish additional information about the work credits needed and the benefit amounts a person could expect to receive, upon request.

Q. Should a person cancel his private health insurance policy as soon as he becomes eligible for Medicare?

A. Other health insurance should not be cancelled until the month Medicare coverage begins. And, before any changes are made in private insurance, a person might want to get in touch with his insurance agent or the office where he pays his premiums to discuss his health insurance needs in relation to Medicare. This might be particularly important if there are dependents covered under the present policy.

Each individual must decide what private insurance he wants to carry in addition to Medicare.

Q. In addition to office visits, what other services are covered under Medicare medical insurance?

A. Medical insurance can help pay for doctor's medical and surgical services, wherever they are received, and for diagnostic tests and procedures that are part of treatment. It also can help pay for other services which are ordinarily furnished in the doctor's offices and included in the bill, such as x-rays, services of the doctor's office nurse, drugs that cannot be self-administered, medical supplies, and physical therapy and speech pathology services.

Armed robbery suspect held

Robert L. Boker Jr., 18, Cottage Hills, is being held in the Madison County Jail in lieu of a $35,000 cash bond on an armed robbery charge.

Boker allegedly is one of two men who robbed the Clark Service Station, Highway 111 and 162, Pontoon Beach, at 11:05 p.m. Sunday. The pair allegedly had a knife and struck the attendant, John Napoli, after threatening to kill him.

Pontoon Beach police said they are looking for the second suspect. Collinsville authorities also have charged Boker with robbery of a Clark Service Station there on Monday. Bond in that case has been set at $20,000.

He was arrested at 1:35 a.m. Tuesday in Collinsville by Pontoon Beach and Collinsville police.

$800,000 bond sale approved

An ordinance calling for the sale of $800,000 in industrial revenue bonds by the city of Granite City was enacted by City Council members Tuesday night.

The bonds will help finance construction of a new steel processing plant by Feralloy Corp. which processes steel to the specifications of its customers.

The bond issue was approved unanimously by the 13 aldermen attending Tuesday's meeting.

After the plant is built, it will be leased by the city to Feralloy Corp. which will repay the bond principal and interest.

The ordinance emphasized that the bond issue does not constitute a debt against the state or city or against tax revenues.

Walter C. Clements, Chicago

attorney representing the corporation, told the aldermen that construction of the plant possibly will begin within a week.

The plant is to be built on a tract of land southwest of 28th Street and the railroad tracks. Clements said that the land has been acquired by the company. The processing plant will hire approximately 80 persons at the beginning of operations.

The bonds will be purchased by the Continental Bank & Trust Co. of Chicago and will bear 5.75 per cent interest. Bonds will be issued in denominations of $5,000.

Mayor Paul Schuler and City Clerk Robert Stevens are to go to Chicago to sign the bonds and complete the transaction early next week.

Vitamin D, newest concern, is defended

A pilot study by a Southern Illinois University at Carbondale cancer researcher indicates a vitamin essential to human health may cause cancer in laboratory animals.

George H. Gass, director of SIUC's Endocrine Pharmacology Research Laboratory, says mice given Vitamin D in their food developed mammary cancer at a rate significantly higher than mice fed a conventional diet.

If Gass's findings hold up under further tests, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration could hold hearings and ban further use of vitamin D under the controversial Delaney Clause.

The Delaney Clause was invoked in a recent proposal ban on the artificial sweetener saccharin and in a previous ban on diethylstilbestrol (DES), a hormone used to promote fattening of beef cattle.

Gass thinks that would be a mistake.

"Vitamin D poses no danger to humans," he said. "In fact, it is positively beneficial."

Nutrition experts consider vitamin D in diet essential to prevent rickets, a condition where bones are weakened by a lack of calcium. Vitamin D helps the body absorb needed calcium and avoid the disease. Vitamin D-enriched milk is a major source of the vitamin in American diets.

Named for a congressman who drafted part of the current FDA law, the Delaney Clause says, in part, that "no additive shall be deemed to be safe if it is found to induce cancer when ingested by man or animal."

"Almost anything probably can be found to be carcinogenic if you go about it the right way," Gass said. "You've got to grasp the fact that many things absolutely essential to health can be carcinogenic at high dose levels."

Gass isn't willing to concede an automatic connection between cancer in laboratory mice and danger to humans.

In the case of vitamin D, he points out that while the doses fed to his mice were about the same amounts that humans would consume over the same time, the average human is 5,000 times larger than a mouse.

The mouse also is about 20 times more sensitive to toxins or carcinogens, he says.

"There is a level of vitamin D that is absolutely essential to health but not carcinogenic," he said.

During the two-year experiment, Gass and William T. Allaben, a former Ph.D. student at SIUC, set up experimental groups of mice and fed them human-sized doses of the vitamin with their feed. Other mice got food without vitamin D. The mice fed vitamin D developed more malignant mammary tumors than those fed a normal diet, and developed them faster, Gass says.

During the same experiment, other groups of mice were fed Estradiol (a potent, naturally occurring female sex hormone) and DES for additional comparison. Both hormones had been linked with cancer in other experiments, although estradiol never had been administered orally before.

Vitamin D produced tumors at about the same rate as estradiol, but not as many as DES, he said.

Gass and Allaben tested vitamin D for its cancer-causing properties because its molecular structure is very similar to estrogens that their studies and others have found to be carcinogenic.

"Since vitamin D is very similar to estrogens that cause mammary carcinomas, we thought it might act the same way," he said.

He says the experiment should be repeated with smaller doses of the vitamin administered to the mice.

"Our original dose levels were completely arbitrary. We didn't know what the dose range should be."

"The arbitrary levels used indicate that next time the dosages should be cut down," he said.

The results of Gass and Allaben's research have been published in the current issue of International Research Communication System (IRCS) Medical Science. The project was supported by a grant from the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Pedestrian hit on Highway 111

Shelby Swift, 80, Cullinville, was injured when he was walking on Route 111 about two miles north of Sand Prairie Lane early this week and was struck by the northbound auto of Larry Bowen, East St. Louis. Bowen said he rounded the curve in the road at about 55 miles-per-hour and then saw the pedestrian in the center of the northbound lane. He swerved into the southbound lane, but skidded and the side of his auto struck the pedestrian.

Players' 'King and I' Dec. 1-3

A return to the Kingdom of Siam in the 1860's is planned by the East Bank Players who will present "The King and I" on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Dec. 1-3, at the Mexican Honorary Commission hall, 1801 Spruce St.

The Rodgers and Hammerstein musical is based upon the book, "Anna and the King," and depicts the conflicts and contradictions the leader of a nation undergoes when trying to enlighten his people and himself, meanwhile modernizing his country.

Curtain time for all three performances will be at 8 p.m. and admission will cost $3 for adults and $2 for children and senior citizens at the door. Advance prices are $2.50 and $1.50, respectively.

Portraying the King will be Jim Fensterman, who will be remembered from such East Bank productions as "Zelda," "Sneaky Fitch," "Oklahoma," and "Mister Takes the Stage." He also has appeared in several presentations at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and with Masquers, Inc.

Advice and assistance for the King comes from a most unlikely source in that time era, Anna Leonovens, an Englishwoman in the employ of the King as teacher to his children. Anna is played by another East Bank "regular," Norma Mendoza, a charter member of the group. She has been seen in "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," "Guys and Dolls" and "Anthing Goes."

A newcomer to the group, Jimmy Cromer, plays Anna's son, Louis. Jimmy is in the third grade at St. Mary's School in Madison. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cromer of Madison.

Also appearing in her first performance with East Bank is Virginia Foster, who will play Lady Thiang, the King's "head wife." Virginia has sung with the SIU Community Chorus, and has appeared in "Dear Ruth" and "Look Homeward, Angel."

Lady Thiang's son, Prince Chulalongkorn, will be played by Sammy Mendoza. Sammy has performed Mexican folk dancing in fiestas of the Mexican Honorary Commission, and has appeared in East Bank productions of "Wizard of Oz" and "Zelda."

Debbie Thack and Bob Lloyd will be seen as the ill-fated lovers, Tuptim and Lun Tha. Debbie has been a member of the chorus in two previous East Bank productions, "Oklahoma" and "Dames at Sea." She has also appeared in productions in high school.

Bob played Will Parker in "Oklahoma" and most recently was a member of the chorus in the Masquers' production of "Gypsy." He has also appeared in "The Roar of the Greasepaint" at SIU this past summer.

Other cast members are: Gene Cassy as Captain Orton, Jim Harrington as the Kralahome, Tony Becerra as the Interpreter, Becky Garcia as Princess Ying Yawwak, and Dan McGee as Sir Edward Ramsey.

The musical accompaniment for the show will be provided by Leah Rogers, a student at Granite City South, Leah played for "Oklahoma" last year and has played for high school productions.

She has studied at McAndrew College and recently went to SIU-Carbondale, where she attended a symposium and received a Musicianship and Leadership Award.

The King's children will be played by Keith and Kevin Antoff, Mark Arnold, Amy Aud, Beth Bodman, Tracy Chambers, Karen and Kathy Fuller, Jamie Luckish, Nicole MacLaughlin, Marta Mendoza, Angie Novosel, Shari Stephens, Kendra Whitehead, Dan Whiteside and Tracey Wilkins.

Portraying the King's wives will be: Laura Antoff, Ruth Bradley, Beverly Caffrey, Ann Fuller, Sarita Garcia, Diane Lewis, Carol McGee, Michelle Meehan, Diane Schwendemann and Michelle Valencia.

Also to be seen in the show are David Becerra, Greg Garcia and Ron Grim.

"The King and I" is the final production of the 1977 season. The show is directed and choreographed by Lisa Garcia, who directed "Oklahoma" last year.

The show's music director is Cathy Cassy, who has handled the music many East Bank shows.

The East Bank Players is a community non-profit theater group, whose purpose is to keep alive the tradition of live theater in the area.

Dan McGee, Players' president, said those attending the musical will help the group continue to function and grow.

Persons interested in securing more information, or wishing to join the East Bank Players are invited to call McGee, at 931-2853, or write to East Bank Players, P.O. Box 432, Granite City, Ill. 62040.

Assemblies of God to sponsor new TV series

Turning Point, a new 30-minute full-color weekly telecast sponsored by local Assemblies of God churches, will be aired on KDLN-TV Channel 30, beginning Sunday, Nov. 27, at 6 p.m.

The first segment of the 13-week Turning Point series features the testimony of Dr. Howard Thomas, a medical doctor once imprisoned for drug addiction, and now an active Christian.

Subsequent telecasts relate the life stories of individuals from a variety of backgrounds, highlighting the events that led to their "turning point" experiences. Family conflicts, drug and alcohol problems, survival in a German concentration camp, fascination with the occult, and involvement in the Hell's Henchmen motorcycle gang, are all discussed by guests who have turned from former ways of life and are now "living for Christ," according to Lee Schultz, producer of the series.

Also scheduled are personal interviews with Christian recording artists and musicians such as Andrea Crouch, Evie Tornquist, and Dino Kartsonakis.

Although the program is produced by the national Radio-TV Department of the Assemblies of God, Schultz explains that the scope of the series is larger than just denominational promotion.

"We do not hide the connection with the Assemblies of God," Schultz says, "but neither do we attempt to spotlight it. We're more interested in presenting a message than in stressing the particular identification."

Friendly Agers welcome guests

Four new members and seven guests attended the luncheon meeting of the Friendly Agers Club at Second Baptist Church last week.

Newcomers welcomed by Mrs. Rosemary Wilson, vice-president, were Pearl Peters, Naomi Blackmill, Frances Bogdan, and Ermyl Veach.

The Rev. Eugene Dutton gave the devotional lesson taken from the Book of Psalms, and John Cavins led the opening prayer.

Hymns were sung by the group and a special song was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Garin, accompanied at the piano by Jack Jenkins.

Prayer for the sick was offered by Mrs. Naomi Rongey.

Officers' reports were submitted and a card was signed for Mrs. Evelyn Smith who is a patient at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

A game was played and the prize was won by Mrs. Bertha Kichler.

Guests present were Mae Finley, Betty Lewis, Fanny Epstein, Francis Rongey, Margaret Dutton and Donald Mayberry.

Others attending were Mr. and Mrs. John Cavins, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Coffman, Ethel Cox, Lena Stephen, Leoda Caberon, Lena Bonnavar, Ruth Chapman, Ruth Hassler, Ruby Mayberry, Virginia Taylor, Beulah Ramsey, Dorothy Barnes, Goldie Smith, Florence Paul, Naomi Burnett, Ann Wigger and Lois Jones.

Five dinners were delivered to persons confined at home. The Friendly Agers will next meet at the church Dec. 20 at 6 p.m.

YOUTHFUL PERFORMERS. Students of Mitchell School who were cast members of a fall play at the school. The picture was among those displayed during the school's open house observance. Back row, Mrs. Cassie Johnson, Owen Keen, ghost, Jon Hutchings, and other ghosts, Peggy Newberry, Melanie Paschedag and Kim Drusell.

800 attend open house

Mitchell School's annual Open House event held last week at the school attracted 800 parents, relatives and area residents, who visited the student classrooms and viewed their school work, on exhibit for the evening.

Also featured for the observance was a display of leaf collections in the sixth grade room of LeRoy Fordyce, and a demonstration of musical hand signals and note reading by the fifth grade class of Mrs. Laurabeth Wittkamp.

The musical segment was presented in the music room of Mrs. Beverly Williams.

A continuous film of the 1976 Bicentennial school play was shown in the library by Al Fuller.

A book fair, sponsored by the sixth grade, was held with the proceeds to go to the newly initiated library at the school.

The gymnasium was also the scene of the PTA sponsored Christmas Bazaar and Bake Sale.

Mitchell School is also making a time capsule to be opened in 2000 with all the 1977-78 PTA members names and other interesting events to be included, it was announced.

Arthur Menendez, principal, greeted the guests and parents and invited the group to view several pictures of interest taken of the students, and displayed for the night.

Mrs. Walkenbach is club hostess

Mrs. Theresa Walkenbach, 2926 Edwards St., was hostess to the Monday Afternoon Card Club, held in her home this week.

Those excelling in the card games and winning prizes were Mrs. Marie Perry, Mrs. Margaret Richardson and Mrs. Leona Parente.

Also present were Mesdames Vi Edwards, Pauline Cochran, Marvel Clover and Myrtle Bruns. Mrs. Bruns will host the next meeting.

Trojans' balanced attack nets 83-69 win

PASSING OFF to teammate Ken Boyd (22) is Madison's Lloyd Williams (24) during action last night in the Madison-Southwest basketball game. Defending for the Longhorns are Joe Jascus (43) and John Smelcer (41). The Trojans won, 83-69.

Press-Record Sports Editor

For Madison Coach Larry Graham and his Trojans, it was the first step toward a second Illinois Class A state championship. And they didn't even stumble a bit.

After breaking out to an 11-4 lead early in the first quarter, the defending state champs rode the crest of a 21-point scoring burst by James Heard and went on to smash Southwest High School of St. Louis 83-69 last night in Madison. It was both team's first game of the year.

"I THOUGHT the scoring was spread around real well," said Graham. "That's the way it's going to be quite a bit this season...letting a lot of guys play to keep everybody fresh and thereby keep the quickness up."

The scoring was so spread around that besides Heard, only two other Trojans were in double figures...but that was enough. Ken Stanley hit on seven field goals and three free throws for 17 points, while Lloyd Williams had six field goals and one free throw for 13 points.

Williams started at center and Stanley came off the bench to score his points.

"We've got several guys on the team who're capable of playing center," said Graham. "In fact, Ken Stanley played there a little tonight...just about everybody but Heard and King played center," he added jokingly.

IT WAS NO JOKE in Southwest in the first quarter...or the rest of the game for that matter. The Trojans pressed and pressed and pressed until Southwest probably thought it was in a stranglehold.

With Kenny Boyd and Heard leading the way with seven of those first 11 points, the Trojans opened a gap that would narrow at times, but would finally grow larger at the end.

Madison opened up a 15-point lead at the end of the first quarter on a jumper by Heard.

"HE CAN PLAY a little basketball too, can't he?" said Madison football coach Nick Jackich after the game, referring to Heard's recent prowess on the gridiron.

That he can...and did, but it was a total team effort, according to Graham.

"We've got so many guys capable of playing in so many spots and occasions...I guess it's an enviable position."

That lead by the Trojans stayed at 15 points until the halftime intermission. They led at that point, 46-21. Another enviable position, huh coach?

SOUTHWEST had tried to pull off a fast break several times during the first half, but failed.

Many times, after Trojan baskets, the Longhorns had a man open all the way down at the opposite end of the floor. They even were able to hit the open man. But, that Trojan quickness caught up with the Longhorns from Southwest.

On almost every occasion, a Trojan was able to catch up with the Southwest player before he could score. Now that's quick.

BUT THE WAR wasn't over at the half. In the third period, Madison maintained its 15-point bulge most of the time. At the 6:35 mark of the quarter, play by guard Wayne Woods.

But just as quickly, a four-point outburst by Madison's Clayton Harris made it 60-46 at the end of the period.

Another three-point by the Longhorns' Terry Johnson late in the fourth period would be their only other bright spot for the night. He pulled it off at the 2:22 mark to pull Southwest to within eleven, 76-65. But the visitors could move no closer.

Getting back to the balanced scoring of Madison, Graham indicated that he is already looking ahead to next season. "I'm going to keep those substitutes coming," he said. "It develops good team morale and I'm already looking at who'll be playing for us next season."

BUT RIGHT NOW, Graham and his Trojans have games ahead of them this year, including one with Venice next Friday, Dec. 2, at 4 p.m.

Ohlendorf is 'cautiously optimistic'

Bill Ohlendorf is cautiously optimistic. He has to be. He's a high school basketball coach at a school that won only nine out of 25 games last season and lost seven of his top players to graduation.

But there are many bright sides...it isn't a totally cloudy picture.

OHLENDORF is the head basketball coach at Granite City High School North. "We'll have pretty good," he said. "We go 6-5, 6-5 across the front the Stealers play a double-post offense."

The 6-5 players are Rick Willard and Brad Gauen, both seniors and returning lettermen. The rest of the starting lineup could be made up of any combination of the following: Don Cooke, a 6-11 senior, Randy Vandergriff, a 6-1 senior, Russ Chappell, a 6-foot junior, Tom Grecco, a 6-1 junior, Bob Steady, a 5-9 sophomore, and Dennis Page, a 6-1 sophomore.

"I guess you'd have to say that our biggest problem will be getting some game experience for those guys," said Ohlendorf. "Although many of them are upperclassmen, they're really got very little actual varsity game-time experience under their belts."

But one thing that Ohlendorf said will NOT be a problem is the lack of a significant defensive effort by Madison letting the Longhorns get too many chances at offensive rebounds.

"I actually thought our defense was poor tonight," said

Sports

But Ohlendorf said he takes them one-at-a-time. And the first one's Friday.

Basketball isn't the only sport in town...both Granite City North and South's wrestling teams will get their seasons under way this weekend.

North's Steeler grapplers will hit the road Thursday so that they can get to Chicago by Friday morning to compete in the Niles East 16-team wrestling tournament.

The double-elimination tourney will feature many of the top schools in the state. The entries are: Arlington, Evanston, Glenbrook South and North, East Leyden (one of the favorites for the state title this year), York, Rockford Gifford, Rolling Meadows, Maine East, New Trier East, Hinsdale Central, Niles West, Conant, Buffalo Grove, Niles East and Granite City North.

The tourney will begin with weigh-ins at 8 a.m. Friday and competition at noon. On Saturday, the wrestling starts at 1 p.m.

SOUTH'S Warrior wrestlers will also be on the road to the northern section of the state.

They're involved in a double-day meet in Normal with Normal Community High and Danville.

The meet is set to start at 1 p.m. Saturday.

Baker, Harper 'Most Valuable' at North award banquet

Mike Baker of North ran away with all the honors during the recent cross country season, and he did it again at the recent North cross country and golf banquet, Nov. 14 in the North cafeteria.

Baker was named as the winner of the Most Valuable Runner for the 1977 harrier season. The Outstanding Senior Award went to Greg Stout and the Most Improved Runner Award to Aaron Hickman.

Steeler cross country coach Pete Robinson handed out varsity letters to Mike Baker, Greg Stout, Aaron Hickman, Mike Johns, Rick Kessman.

Jim Edwards, Danny Webb, Roger Mayenburg, Bruce Decker and Chris Andrews.

Junior varsity awards were given to Monty Naler, Jim Hemphill, Fave Hessel, and Alan Huff.

NORTH GOLF COACH Russ Chappell awarded varsity letters to Dan Harper, George Batz, Mike Cella, Brett Smith, Scott Robertson.

Russ Chappell Jr., Rob Fyler and Chris Andrews.

The Most Valuable Player Award went to Dan Harper, who also took the Low-Average Award. The Steeler "Two-Put" Award was given to Mike Cella.

Hunting arrests at Horseshoe Lake

The Illinois Department of Conservation has been making numerous arrests of persons accused of hunting illegally around Horseshoe Lake. Most arrests result in a $35 fine and confiscation of any game caught by the hunter.

David Harper, district wildlife manager for the conservation department, told the Press-Record Tuesday that only waterfowl hunting from assigned duck blinds is allowed at Horseshoe Lake.

Game hunting, including rabbits, deer, pheasant, quail, raccoon, opossum, skunk and others, is strictly prohibited on state land.

Game hunting is allowed on private property, but only with the property owner's permission, he stressed.

The state-owned land is patrolled by game wardens, who are making daily arrests.

Harper said he hopes the park can be developed for additional hunting in the future, but noted the only hunting allowed at this time is waterfowl shooting from the duck blinds on the east side of the lake from one-half hour before sunrise until noon.

The 18 blinds are pre-assigned to the hunters who built them, but any blinds not claimed by their owners by one hour before hunting time are then assigned to hunters waiting for a blind.

If there are more hunters than unclaimed blinds, the blinds are assigned by a drawing.

All waterfowl hunters are required to register with the conservation officer at the shack on the west side of Route 11, across from Lakeside Airport before hunting.

A conservation officer is assigned to the shack each morning starting at about 4:30 a.m., to check-in waterfowl hunters.

Fishing is prohibited at Horseshoe Lake in the mornings and only bank fishing is allowed, beginning at noon each day. Fishing from boats is strictly prohibited and enforced, Harper said.

The lines dividing state property from private property are somewhat "fuzzy," according to Harper.

'Y' fitness members nearing century mark in jogging

Participants in the Tri-City Area YMCA men's fitness class have now jogged a total of 786 miles. Several runners are approaching the 100-mile mark and are expected to reach it by Christmas.

"All participants deserve much credit for their hard work and dedication to improving their fitness level, and all have made excellent progress," said Ed Mercer, physical director at the 'Y'. Classes are held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 7:15 a.m., 12 noon and 5:15 p.m. and last for about 45 minutes.

The cardiovascular-based program is pulse-rate monitored, with each individual starting at a level designed to produce a training effect rather than a straining effect.

Each participant records his own pulse rates on a chart and can see his own progress. Those interested in the class are contacting Mercer at the 'Y' at 876-7200.

Wilson has good shot to be starting wrestler at Western

A Granite City wrestler is making his presence felt on the Western Illinois University wrestling squad.

Brian Wilson, a sophomore who graduated from South, is giving one of the Western stars of a year ago a run for his money for a starting berth.

Rich Lafinzeiger, who led Western in falls last season, in the 167-pound weight class, still hasn't nailed down the position on the team as the number one 167 pounder because of Wilson.

But Western Coach Don Trivette isn't worried about the contest for positions. "We don't know who's starting in six of the ten weights, but it won't matter, because whoever is starting can win."

IHSA rule addition to clear the air with fans

According to Keith Parker, a physical education instructor at Coolidge Junior High and an official rules interpreter for the Illinois High School Association (IHSA), there has been an addition to the basketball rule, which may help clear the air with fans and officials.

Many officials and fans, according to Parker, feel that if a jump-ball is tapped and then time runs out on the clock with the sounding of the buzzer, that a basket made off of that tap is not good.

But the following addition to the rules should clear that up:

Rule 6-3 exception 2—The ball does not become dead while it is in the air on a tap by a player toward his own basket if: (a) time expires, (b) a foul is committed by an opponent on the player making the tap, or (c) an opponent of the player making the tap swings his arms or elbows excessively without making contact.

That's the original rule...here's the addition: "A tap of a jump-ball from the free throw line."

According to Parker, the addition will make a basket under these circumstances count for points.

Steeler gridders honored

The North football Steelers had an up-and-down season, but the "ups" were rewarded last Wednesday night, Nov. 16.

They were honored at an award banquet in North's cafeteria. Coach Tom Wyroczek handed out varsity letters to: Keith Atkins, Leonard Butler, Dennis Cann, Roberto Cuevas, Tim Dudley, Tom Grecco.

Mike Hanauer, Jeff Hamilton, Dan Harris, Steve Hartline, Bill Kafalas.

Alan Kilgan, Keff Logas, Jody Maxfield, Mike Miller, Dave Morlan.

Randy Vandergriff, Bruce Wright, Mike Wright, Tim Bowman, and Kevin Buckingham.

Junior varsity awards were given to: Larry Burns, Mark Evans, Doug Haden.

South golfers, harriers honored at banquet

The GCHS south golf and cross country banquet was held Monday, Nov. 14 in the South cafeteria. Golf coach Boone Chaney awarded varsity letters to: Herman "Dutch" Schroeder, Ben Brown, Jol King, Greg Mulach and Kevin Romine.

Schroeder received the Most Valuable Player Award for the South golfers.

Cross Country letters were awarded by coach Dick Harmon to Scott Ahlers, Dave Blackwell, Curt Collins, Mark Degonia, James Dumont, Wally Fenton, Bill Harrington, Dave Houston, Ken Meagher, and Dave Taylor.

The Most Improved Runner Award went to Curt Collins, while James Dumont and Dave Houston were named co-winners of the Most Valuable Runner Award.

Junior varsity golf letters were given to: Joe Jusau, Bob Parsaghtian, Rich Fiese and Jeff Davis.

Junior varsity cross country awards went to James Dumont and Rob Dubinski.

Vocational counseling for veterans

Belleville Area College has been asked to provide vocational counseling for veterans.

A contract between the college and the Veterans Administration was approved by the BAC Board of Trustees at its late-November meeting.

The college will receive remuneration in the amount of $99 for some kinds of counseling and $84 for others.

The first category includes counseling interviews as well as the administering and interpretation of examinations and psychological tests, plus reports containing analysis, diagnosis and conclusions.

The latter consists of the administration and interpretation of standardized tests and reports of those test findings to the VA.

BAC President William Koel said, "As far as I know, Belleville Area College is the first two-year college in the nation that has been asked to provide such counseling for veterans."

He complimented KAC Veterans Representative Ken Fish and indicated that the caliber of Fish's work with veterans in this area was largely responsible for the VA contract.

Dr. Weldon Tallant, vice-president for student development, said that veterans who come to the college for counseling will not necessarily be students of BAC, but that vocational counseling might conceivably lead to some veterans enrolling for training at Belleville Area College.

Scott claims win in anti-pollution fight

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott said during the weekend that an appeal by Milwaukee sewage officials cannot delay the planning and construction schedules for a $600 million advanced sewage treatment program for Milwaukee.

Scott said the planning and construction schedule presented by his office and Milwaukee officials and approved by Federal Judge John F. Grady must continue even though an appeal is pending.

He said Milwaukee is precluded from asserting on appeal any challenge to the engineering feasibility or the time for installation of advanced sewage treatment.

Scott said that while he thinks Milwaukee is wasting time and money by appealing the liability issue, he nevertheless will ask the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 7th Circuit to hear the appeal on an expedited basis.

Scott won what has been called a precedent-setting court victory to end Milwaukee's pollution of Lake Michigan on July 29 of this year.

More wheelchair-equipped buses for routes in Illinois

Legislation passed last week by the Illinois Senate, which formally authorizes the Bi-State Development Agency to operate wider buses on its transit routes in the state, has been termed by Bi-State Executive Director Barry M. Locke as "a significant step in our ongoing efforts to achieve permanent mass transportation improvements in the area."

The bill, which was passed by the Illinois House in early November, permits Bi-State to operate buses with 102-inch widths on all streets and roads in its Illinois service area. The area includes portions of Madison, Monroe and St. Clair Counties.

The previous restriction of a 96-inch width had limited the use of many newly-purchased wide buses to Missouri. That state has no prohibition on the operation of the wide vehicles. Bi-State had sought, and received approval in August from the Illinois Department of Transportation to operate new, wider wheelchair lift-equipped buses on three Illinois routes on an interim basis starting Aug. 15, when the agency initiated the first regularly scheduled fixed-route, wheelchair-accessible bus service in the nation.

Designated trips of the Alta Sta., Belleville-St. Louis and McKinley Bridge routes are now operated with the lift buses, part of a network which will be expanded to a total of 22 lines on Monday, Nov. 28.

The state of Illinois provided funding participation in the purchase of 30 wheelchair-equipped vehicles which, because of their special equipment, are constructed with the 102-inch width.

Locke praised the collective efforts of Governor James Thompson's office, the Illinois state legislature, and numerous county officials which led to the bill's passage.

The permanent authorization, he noted, applies to all transit operators in the state. It was evolved with the active cooperation of Bi-State, the Chicago Transit Authority, the Chicago-area Regional Transportation Authority and the Illinois Public Transit Association, an organization representing smaller transit carriers throughout the rest of the state.

Failure to achieve passage during the current legislative session, Locke said, could have jeopardized continuation of the pilot wheelchair-lift program in Illinois.

During 1977, Bi-State has taken delivery of 157 wide buses, each equipped with a wheelchair lift to raise wheelchair passengers from curb level into the vehicle, as well as two wheelchair securement areas.

More than 25 persons per week have taken advantage of the new service since it was inaugurated on 10 heavily traveled routes in August. Locke anticipates increasing rider response following the late-November service expansion.

Hardwood, pine seedlings

By RON CORNWELL

Madison County
Agricultural Adviser
Dale Sherrard of the Soil Conservation Service says order blanks for obtaining seedlings from the Illinois Forestry Department are now available through his office.

There are two state nurseries in Illinois. The Union Nursery is located at Jonesboro and the Mason Nursery is at Topoka.

Both nurseries produce tree seedlings for sale in the state of Illinois.

Both hardwood and pine seedlings are available. Some of the pines available include Scotch Pine, Jack Pine, Red Pine, White Pine and Loblolly Pine. Several wildlife packets are also available.

Trees from a state nursery cannot be resold in any way with the roots attached, and cannot be used for landscaping purposes. They can be used for windbreaks, reforestation, wildlife cover, erosion control or Christmas trees.

Anyone interested in a tree order form may contact Dale Sherrard at the Madison County Soil Conservation office on Old Alton Road, Edwardsville, or call 656-4710.

The Conservation District will send a truck to pick up trees at the nursery for orders from Madison County.

Each fall, Madison County 4-H members have the opportunity to display samples of the grain or other crops that they have produced in their 4-H crop show. This year's 4-H crop show had approximately 80 entries.

The grand and reserve grand champion corn samples were exhibited by Terry Ohren of Rt. 1, New Douglas, and Carole Landolt of Rt. 2, Pocahontas.

The grand and reserve grand champion soybean samples were exhibited by Ken Klempke of Rt. 1, Troy, and Lee and David Stille of Rt. 2, Alhambra.

Grand and reserve grand champion small grain samples were exhibited by Bob Ohren of Rt. 1, New Douglas, and Rich Geiger of Rt. 2, Highland.

The grand and reserve grand champion forage samples were exhibited by Mary Henke of Rt. 2, Staunton, and George Daube of Rt. 2, Edwardsville.

The guide also covers new developments in the tax law.

I receive several questions each year on where to obtain a germination test on soybean seed. Farmers interested in a germination test on soybean seed should have the testing done early in the year.

The state seed laboratory receives a heavy number of samples in the late spring each year. This often delays getting the results back.

Madison County farmers should send seed samples for a germination test or purity analysis test to: Illinois Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Laboratories, 531 E. Sangamon, Springfield 62706.

It is important that with each sample sent, you include your name, address, kind of seed, variety, year grown, month of harvest, where grown and type of test desired.

For seeds such as corn, soybeans or wheat, you must send one quart or 1 1/2 pounds of seed.

For seeds such as alfalfa, red clover, sweet clover, or alsike, one cupful or five ounces of seed is required. For seeds such as fescue or ryegrass, one pint of 1/2 pound of seed is needed.

Chouteau to organize senior citizens group

Chouteau Township officials are mailing letters to many of the township's senior citizens requesting them to form a senior citizens' organization which changes the new township hall and community center building for meetings and activities.

Walter "Dick" Sparks, Chouteau supervisor, commented at Monday night's Town Board of Trustees meeting, "I just drew up a list by memory of many of our township's senior citizens and sent letters to them. "I do not mean to slight anyone, but I am sure I did not remember everyone, so we would like every senior citizen in the township to know we are interested in having them contact us about establishing such a group."

He said that if an active senior citizens' club could be formed, the township may be eligible to apply for a "mini-bus" to help the members and the handicapped meet their transportation needs. Sparks said about 50 letters already have been mailed out and asked the trustees for names not on the list, so additional letters can be mailed. The letters request that those interested in forming a group contact the township office this week so a meeting can be scheduled early in December.

That text of that letter follows. "Dear Friends: We are asking your assistance in helping us get a Chouteau Township senior citizens' organization started. We now have a very nice new social center completed and ready for use. "We hope it will be of great benefit to all the people of our township, especially our senior citizens. When the building has disigned, we had visions of our senior citizens spending many happy and relaxing hours there. "There are a number of programs available for organized senior citizens groups, funded by the federal government, in which we can participate. "If we can get enough response from the senior citizens wishing to participate, we will call a meeting. We will make arrangements to have speakers here with experience on how to form a group and explain their programs.

"There also will be entertainment and refreshments. If you are interested, please call or write the township office at 931-0823, between 9 a.m. and noon or 1 to 4 p.m. weekdays. The address is Rural Route Two, Box 697a, Granite City.

CHICAGO FIRE

The great Chicago fire began on Oct. 8, 1871, ultimately destroying a large part of the city and leaving some 250 dead.

Rail line charged after boxcars block crossing

Trains blocking the Reville Lane Crossing near Stalling School has become a major concern of school officials and parents, since some children find it necessary to crawl under rail cars in order to walk home from school some afternoons.

Some parents have told Nameoki Township officials that the crossing has been blocked many times. Sometimes, boxcars are left across the crossing after the engine has been removed. Last week, the Madison County sheriff's department was notified that a train had been blocking the crossing since 8 a.m. that day. Deputies at noon found several Chicago & Northwestern Railroad cars on the crossing with no engine attached or nearby.

Sheriff's authorities contacted the railroad's yardmaster in Madison at noon and requested the crossing be cleared. Highway Commissioner Frank Mehele has contended the crossing is so steep that vehicles hit bottom attempting to cross it. He alleged he has had very little cooperation from the railroad in attempts to have the crossing redesigned and repaired.

Yardmaster to have the train removed and the yardmaster said he did not know when the train could be moved, reports said.

School had already dismissed and children had been seen crawling under the cars in order to walk home, parents said. Deputies then contacted the Madison County state's attorney's office and received approval to charge the yardmaster and the railroad with allowing a train to block an intersection for more than 10 minutes.

The yardmaster, Jackie A. Young, 12 Georgetown Drive, Pontoon Beach, was charged at a notice to appear in court.

Official papers charging the railroad were mailed to the offices in Chicago. The Reville Lane Crossing has been the topic of considerable discussion at recent Nameoki Township meetings.

No real cure for the common cold

(American Medical Association) What can you do for the common cold? Most folks know you can't cure it. And yet we keep trying. We still waste a lot of time and money on pills and nostrums and treatments — all in the faint hope that maybe this time something will help.

A cold is caused by one or more of many viruses, and, unfortunately, Grandma's home therapy is still good.

If you get a cold, stay home in bed, keep warm, gargle to ease a sore throat. Take a mild pain reliever for the discomfort. None of this will cure the cold, but it will make you feel somewhat more comfortable while your body's natural defense mechanisms are building up enough steam to overcome the cold virus.

Most of us have a cold or two during the course of the winter. Usually, we try to keep going to the office, but sometimes we feel too bad to work and spend a day or two at home.

There are medications now available — antihistamines, decongestants, cough suppressants, and fever reducers — that can make the symptoms of a cold much less severe. These have their limitations and their problems. The antihistamines can cause drowsiness, which can be highly dangerous when driving an auto.

If you get a cold, ask your doctor about the medications that reduce the runny nose and sneezing and coughing.

As youngsters heard the old folks say: Treat a cold and cure it in two weeks; let it alone and it will go away in a fortnight. The time element isn't that exact, but the theory is the same.

Much research has been done on the cause and possible cure for colds.

Perhaps the answer will be found some day. But as of now we can't cure colds and anyone who tells you he can deserves at best considerable suspicion.

Thompson retaining same campaign management firm

By ROBERT ESTILL Press-Record Washington Bureau The campaign management firm which guided Gov. James Thompson to a record 1,300,000-vote plurality in 1976 will be handling his 1978 re-election drive.

The prestigious Washington-based firm of Bailey, Dear-douff and Associates will continue and produce Thompson's advertising, serve as campaign management consultants and aid in planning.

However, Doug Bailey, president of the firm, branded "totally untrue" a rumor the firm also would be doing planning work for Thompson aimed toward the 1980 presidential election. "We will be working in his 1978 gubernatorial campaign," Bailey told the Press-Record. "I have never discussed anything beyond that with him, and he has never discussed anything beyond that with us." Bailey said they have not yet drafted the contract for the 1978 campaign, but he expected his firm would be paid about the same amount it received for the 1976 campaign.

In that campaign, the fee was two-thirds of the advertising commissions or about $60,000. With the exception of two or three months early in Thompson's administration, the firm has had an on-going consultant's contract with the firm for Thompson Campaign Committee.

Bailey's firm also is handling the re-election campaign of Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., as it did in 1972.

The firm handled advertising for former President Gerald Ford's 1976 campaign. Its political clientele has included Republican Senators Edward Brooke of Massachusetts and Richard Schweiker of Pennsylvania and Republican Governors Otis Bowen of Indiana, James Rhodes of Ohio and William G. Milliken of Michigan.

levels collected $359 billion in taxes in the 1975-76 fiscal year. That was a $27 billion rise from the previous year.

"Federal government still collected the most — about 56 per cent. About 25 per cent was collected by state governments and 19 per cent by local governments."

"Here in Illinois, during fiscal 1975-76, state and local governments collected an average of $78 taxes for every man, woman and child in the state."

"Our state government expenditures have been growing because the cost of services the state provides has been growing. During fiscal 1975-76, for instance, we spent $334 million for hospital in-patient services under the Medicaid program — a 24.7 per cent increase from the year before."

"As your secretary of state, I watch every operation of our office, to improve service while keeping costs as low as possible."

"Next year, we begin issuing five-year license plates that will save the taxpayers $21 million."

"We now have instant issuance of photo driver licenses and state identification cards that will deter fraud in cashing checks."

"We have a new merit code in our office that will cover 2,300 more employees than had been covered under the state Personnel Department code."

"We run a 'tight ship' in our office, just as we did when I was state treasurer."

"During those six years, we earned more than a half-billion dollars in interest on investments of state funds."

"State government is your business. They people pay for it, and the people own it."

"With sound administration — and with understanding and cooperation of government, business and the public — we can keep it solvent and operate it effectively for the common good," Dixon asserted.

Rotary President Donald Shaffner presided yesterday and Carl E. Mathias served as program chairman.

Dixon is an attorney, businessman and banker who has served in all three branches of government — executive, legislative and judicial.

In 1960, at the age of 23, he was elected to the Illinois House of Representatives after having been elected as police magistrate in 1946 at the age of 21.

Winning every elective office that he has sought, Dixon remained a state representative until being elected to the Illinois Senate in 1962. He was re-elected as a senator in 1966 and then won the office of state treasurer in 1970.

After winning a second term as treasurer in 1974, he was elected in 1976 as secretary of state, capturing a two-year term necessitated by the Illinois Constitution's transition away from presidential-year state office "balloting." A four-year term is to be decided next year.

The office of secretary of state in Illinois involves a much broader range of responsibilities than in the case in most states.

Antitrust suit against 5 firms

Attorney General William J. Scott yesterday filed an antitrust suit in federal court in Springfield against five highway construction firms. Scott said this suit represents the eighth "highway case" filed by his Antitrust Division against defendants accused of rigging bids on Illinois state highway construction projects.

Scott believes such cases might ultimately result in recovery of millions of dollars of damages to the state. The newest suit alleges that a group of highway contractors conspired to rig bids on a contract involving bridge construction in Greene County.

Scott said antitrust laws can be an effective deterrent to businessmen who attempt to cheat the public through price-fixing because of "treble damage" provisions contained within the laws.

These provisions allow the state, or any other injured party, to sue three times the amount of actual damages sustained. Scott said the state is also seeking civil penalties which are allowed under the Illinois Antitrust Act.

Calhoun County Contracting Corp. of Springfield, Ill., one of the defendants named in the complaint, won the contract with a bid of $1,411,887, Scott said.

Other defendants named in the suit include: Sangamo Construction Co., Springfield; Bituminous Fuel & Oil Co., Collinsville; Caldwell Engineering Co., Jacksonville; and H. H. Hall Construction Co., East St. Louis.

the adult vocational school. She is bilingual, having had Spanish-speaking parents.

Part of her success as a pupil returning to the classroom after 40 years, may lie in the fact she has kept up with her reading over the years.

She is an avid reader of magazines, newspapers and novels.

"Continuing to read helped me when I returned to school, with a greater understanding in the areas covered by the GED, such as science, literature and so forth," she explained.

"My wish or desire to obtain a high school equivalency degree was so great that I continued to work on day by day."

"I was always encouraged by my instructors and allowed to work at my own pace. I was able to pass the GED test after being at Venice-Lincoln nine months," Lupe said.

While taking the nurse's aide theoretical training at Venice-Lincoln Technical Center and Southern Illinois University Hospital, Lupe also has been working at Donaldson's Cafe in Mitchell.

She went to school from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. Monday through Friday and worked at the hospital from 3:30 p.m. until 11 p.m. daily.

Lupe noted that a nurse's aide "doesn't just empty bedpans. You have to know the whole anatomy, all about taking temperatures, blood pressure, giving medicine and how to handle the patients. It is very interesting."

"Beside wanting to go back to school, another of my lifelong dreams was to become a nurse," she said.

Even before receiving her diploma last night, Lupe had contacted area colleges, hospitals and schools in the hope of attending LPN school while working as a nurse's aide. Lupe was forced to quit school to look after her mother and the younger children.

She was 9 years old at the time.

"There wasn't anyone else to do it and the priest said it was alright and that I could come back to school when she was well," Lupe explained.

"I could never go back then, but I always said 'some day I will make it,' she added.

Lupe remained at home until getting married at 21, and she became the mother of Juanita (Mrs. Juanita Bufla), who is now 28 years old.

Subsequently, she had eight more children and her life once again became filled with the needs of young ones.

Education and dreams had to take a back seat.

She had to work and raise the children at the same time, but the jobs she could get were limited to kitchen work, in restaurants, or domestic work.

"I knew that my educational background, or lack of it, stopped me from getting better paying jobs," Lupe said.

"When my youngest child was nine, I felt that I could leave home through the day and continue my own education. I was on Public Aid at the time and had heard through friends that a person on aid could contact WIN (Work Incentive Program) and possibly be referred to a school."

"The WIN people advised me of the opportunity to attend school at Venice-Lincoln Technical Center."

At that time, Lupe was living in Paducah. She could not drive a car, but traveled back and forth to Venice by bus, leaving her house at 7:30 a.m. and returning about 3:45 p.m.

Since residing in Mitchell, she has found it easier to secure a ride to and from school.

Elizabeth Hospital for classes there.

Lupe still has four children in school.

Miss Rose Ann Artega, 23, is in her junior year at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. She is a business-education major and is attending university on a scholarship.

Maria, 14, is a ninth grade student; Mario, 13, is in eighth grade and Michael, 11, is in sixth grade.

In addition, Lupe has Danny, 21, who works at a plant in St. Louis; Miss Susie Artega, 22, employed at Hill Bros. Shoes, St. Louis; Santiago, 25, an employee of Tums Co., St. Louis; and Erasto, 27, who was recently transferred by Budweiser Corp. to its new plant in Deerfield, Calif.

Mrs. Juanita Bufla is the ninth child.

All the boys are very musical and used to play together in a band," Lupe said.

"You should see the way some of those women attending Venice-Lincoln try," the new graduate stated.

"They have to see their children get to school, take the pre-school ones with them, on a bus or walk, pick them up, go home, make supper and still prepare their lessons for the next day classes. Some of them also," she added.

"I am very happy this opportunity in adult education was available to me and I sincerely hope that it continues to remain available to other adults who are in similar situations to mine."

Artega said.

Despite a hard life since the age of 9, Lupe does not look 50 years. Her eyes sparkle and their look is to the future.

"I am going to work and become a Licensed Practical Nurse," she said.

There is no doubt whatsoever that she will do it.

happy that they feel I've earned re-election. And I'm grateful to them for saying so.

Hawkins had 1,496 and Jerry Adams received 1,480, according to the court-ordered recount.

Moele ruled, however, that a suit filed by Whitsett, Madison, Kenneth Gieson, Harlan Pervan and Hawkins on both sides and was, therefore, invalid as to the trustees.

Mrs. Hawkins' hopes were kept alive, since she and all the other trustees were named in a counter-suit filed by unsuccessful trustee candidate Joseph Boyer of State Park Place. Boyer later requested his suit be dismissed and Moele granted the request.

That left Mrs. Hawkins' future on the board to be decided only by the motion to reconsider, which Moele dismissed Tuesday without a hearing.

Mrs. Hawkins would be seated on the board of trustees today, had it not been for an April 12 drawing in which she lost to Mrs. Hawkins.

Initial vote tallies announced earlier showed Mrs. Hawkins and Besserman tied at 1,491 votes each, so Town Clerk Douglas Teator conducted a drawing at the annual town meeting to break the deadlock and decided which should receive the fourth trustee position.

"The question of who the majority of the voters intended to be elected is further clouded by claims from many of the successful and unsuccessful candidates that check marks in the boxes, which were primarily for the judges, were primarily for them."

"If you counted check marks, it would be much clearer the people wanted me to be a trustee and not Mrs. Hawkins," Jerry Adams contended. Mrs. Hawkins disagreed, saying there were more check marks for her than for Adams.

After learning that her last hopes of being declared the Harold E. "Gene" Briggs, incumbent superintendent of the educational service region of Madison County, as a Democratic candidate for re-election.

For legislative offices in the 56th legislative district, which includes the Quad-Cities, the committee endorsed State Sen. Sam Vadalabene for re-election, and Joe E. Luco of Edwardsville and Sam W. Wolf of Granite City as candidates for state representative.

Luco is an incumbent representative. Wolf served as a state representative from October 1975 to January 1977 to complete the unexpired term of Horace Calvo upon Calvo's appointment as a circuit judge.

The other incumbent Democratic state representative is Jim McPike, Alton, who has announced he will seek re-election. He did not seek slating by the county committee and did not appear before the screening committee, instead putting an anti-screening sign in the meeting room door.

The committee also endorsed Melvin Price of East St. Louis for re-election as congressman of the 23rd Illinois District which includes the Quad-Cities and parts of Madison County plus all of St. Clair County.

The executive board also extended a blanket endorsement to all candidates slated last week by the state Democratic Central Committee.

The endorsements were made during the Monday night meeting of the executive board of the county committee in Charlie's Restaurant after a series of meetings by the screening committee during the weekend.

Screening sessions were held Friday night and Saturday morning and afternoon, followed by a meeting Sunday in which that committee prepared its recommendations to the executive board of the county committee.

Hagner told the Press-Record Tuesday that the committee held off in making recommendations on the office and treasurer's office because "Maers has not indicated his plans." Some have indicated their belief that Maers might seek to run for the treasurer's post.

George Musso, incumbent treasurer, may not be a candidate for any office this year.

Hagner said the committee took no action on endorsement of a candidate for treasurer because of "quite a number" of persons seeking the treasurer's office.

"We intend to make endorsements for both offices Friday night and Saturday morning and afternoon, followed by a meeting Sunday in which that committee prepared its recommendations to the executive board of the county committee."

The rescue workers said they had been told they were looking for a big man, about 6 feet, 2 inches tall.

At 2 p.m., Tuesday, their operations were suspended because the rough bottom and the swift current at the tip of the island reduced chances of finding a body.

It is estimated that it might come to the surface after about four days, if it is not caught by something on the bottom of the river.

Rep. Younge bill would set up redevelopment authority

Representative Wyvetter H. Younge of East St. Louis has introduced legislation in the Illinois House to create an East St. Louis Depressed Areas Land Use, and Community Development Authority.

Under the legislation, a nine-member governing board would be appointed by the mayor of East St. Louis to oversee the operations of the authority. Its purpose, under provisions of the bill, would be to bring about economic redevelopment of East St. Louis and to develop a plan for long-term economic growth.

"Over the past few years," Rep. Younge said, "we have seen East St. Louis suffer through a kind of economic depression that has caused undue and unnecessary hardships on the residents."

"It is my feeling that this legislation would upgrade the stagnant economic conditions. The decay of urban blight has infested the city, and through this legislation we can have renovation and rehabilitation."

Specific powers granted to the authority would include: acquisition of land by purchase, gift or eminent domain; leasing, rental, sale and collection of fees on property

Auto, cycle, truck show attracting local entries

The International Auto, Cycle and Truck Show, which is to open at the new St. Louis Convention Center for four days starting Thursday at noon is expected to attract a number of entries from the Quad-City area.

The four day event, open from noon until 11 p.m. through Sunday, will feature world competition between custom autos, street rods and motorcycles as well as truck competition in van sedan delivery pickup and four-wheel drive vehicles, with over $5,000 in prize money and trophies to be awarded.

Several local vehicles are being entered. Andy Economy of Madison is entering three vehicles including his award winning Model T Ford. Economy came across the abandoned car in a corn field. Thought it had been at rest there for years, the body according to Economy, was in extremely good condition. Taking the car to Lee and Andy's Towing and Storage in Madison he began looking for a T frame, as only a T frame was wanted to use stock fenders and many other original parts.

Bob Barr, a bodyman, went to work on the body as Economy concentrated on the engine. The car now has hydromatic drive, air conditioning, tilt steering and other features.

State ID cards for non-drivers

Alan J. Dixon, secretary of state, on Monday night asked senior citizens to help him acquaint the public with his new state photo identification card program.

Dixon was the featured speaker at the annual autumn harvest dinner dance of the VIP Council of Illinois, a DuPage County seniors organization.

"The Senior Citizens Rules of the Road review course, which my office is constantly enlarging, was born at a meeting of this organization in this room three years ago," said Dixon.

"Illinois law requires that all drivers 65 and older must take a written test, a vision test and a road test every three years to keep their driver's license."

"The VIP Council, with help from the secretary of state's office, was the first organization to start the review course in September 1974. Since then, more than 50,000 people have taken the course. We are the only state in the nation with such a program."

"About 99 percent of the senior citizens who have passed the review course have also passed the written examination required for license renewal."

"We want every older driver who is capable to retain his driving privilege. Of 4.5 million licensed drivers in Illinois, 570,000 are 65 or older, and 700 are 90 and older."

"On June 17, after many years' study, we began a new photo driver license program. Two weeks later, on July 1, we began a new photo identification card program."

"Driver's license cards and ID cards both are plastic laminated, about the size of a credit card, with a photograph of the applicant on the left portion."

"The license says 'Illinois Drivers License' in blue ink. The ID card says 'Illinois Identification Card' in red ink. Both cards have name, address and descriptive material on the right."

"Qualified applicants can obtain either card the same day they walk into our driver license facilities. We have photo equipment and computer terminals to make possible instant issuance."

"We are issuing about 200,000 of the photo driver licenses a month, but so far fewer than 2,000 a month of the ID cards."

"More than a million citizens of Illinois are 65 or older. Those—or any citizen of any age, who can't or doesn't wish to drive—can still obtain the identification card, which is just as good for cashing checks or any other identification purpose except the right to drive a car."

"The ID card is free to seniors 65 or older and is good for five years."

"The drivers license is $4 for seniors 65 or older, and is good for three years. All others pay $8 for the license and $4 for the ID card."

"We are now starting a new program to take the ID card to senior citizens so they won't even have to journey to our facilities."

"We will take equipment to issue the cards for all who need them, wherever the greatest number of your membership has easiest access."

"Licensed drivers, as well as nondrivers, are entitled to the ID card. An elderly driver who plans to use a license just one more period—three years—can set up an ID card at the same time which will give him two additional years of identification use."

"I believe many citizens don't know of the availability of the ID card, just as many seniors are unaware of the homestead exemption, the circuit breaker law for property tax and sales tax relief and many other benefits available to senior citizens."

"As secretary of state, I am making my business to make sure that all senior citizens are aware of the benefits they have coming from our office. I ask your help for spreading the word, and thank you for the help you have given already."

Vision problems cause some hunting accidents

By CATHERINE R. MAUCK

Madison County Extension Adviser.

Home Economics

Many game hunters are injured each year. According to Orville Hoggett, University of Illinois Extension safety specialist, some of the hunting accidents are related to vision problems.

Most accidents related to vision problems fall into three categories: victim mistaken for game, unseen victim moves into the line of fire and victim shot by hunter swinging on game.

Although many hunters have a medical check-up before the hunting season starts, few have regular eye examinations, says Hoggett. Since accurate vision is important for hunting, the specialist says that hunters owe it to themselves and others to make sure their vision is normal.

There are several types of visual defects that impair a hunter's ability to shoot. One is the inability to see distant objects clearly. Prescription glasses and scopes can help to correct this situation. Hunters also should have their depth perception—ability to estimate distances—and peripheral vision—ability to see to the sides—checked regularly, says Hoggett.

Bad weather and certain light conditions can hamper a hunter's vision. Hoggett recommends that hunters be extra careful during rainy, hazy weather and wear tinted glasses during extra bright conditions.

Good color vision is important in distinguishing game from non-game.

Nearly eight percent of the men and about one-half of the women in the U.S. are deficient in color vision. While this condition impairs hunting ability, these persons can still hunt safely if they are aware of their handicap and take extra care, says Hoggett.

Hoggett offers these safety precautions for hunters: Know visual defects, wear glasses to correct visual defects, take extra care when hunting in poor light and bad weather conditions, always be sure of the target, check around the target before the shot and wear blaze of "hunter's orange" or alert other hunters of your presence.

EQUALITY OFFICER OF ECONOMIC COMMISSION

The board of directors of the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission at its regular late-November meeting concurred in the recommendation by Edward Schenk, executive director, that Elaine Caldwell, outreach coordinator of the Alton area, be made the equal employment opportunity officer for the agency.

Mrs. Caldwell has been employed by the agency since 1970 and has had experience in efforts to ensure employment of minorities. This responsibility will be in addition to her regular duties, Schenk said.

Improvement, teamwork goals at Belleville Area College

"Belleville Area College is embarked on what is probably the most extensive planning effort it has ever known," according to President William R. Keel.

Dr. Keel explained the college's PIE plan (Planning Institutional Excellence), to the BAC Board of Trustees at the November meeting during the weekend.

He emphasized that the initial stage of the planning process is a pilot program for the administrative staff.

After the administrators show a "good track record," he said, he hopes that all members of the college staff can become involved in long-range planning.

The PIE plan is a modification of the commonly used Management By Objectives, used extensively in business and education throughout the nation, Dr. Keel said.

Area of emphasis for the 1978-79 fiscal year which Dr. Keel asked the board to approve are:

(A) Improved evening supervision.
(B) Facility requirements, including existing facilities, conversion of existing facilities, maintenance programs, and an improvement of the total environment.
(C) Student and staff recruitment.
(D) The development of teamwork and a positive college identity.
(E) Appraisal, including demographic, students and programs.

The board unanimously approved the areas of emphasis outlined by Dr. Keel.

Board Member Milton Smith said, "If we can accomplish four of the items, the teamwork and positive image will be a natural outcome."

An audit of Belleville Area College, prepared by the firm of Rice, Sullivan and Company, was formally accepted by the Board of Trustees.

In compliance with recommendations made by the auditing firm, the board authorized transfer of profits from popcorn sales in downtown Belleville from an auxiliary enterprises fund to the general fund of the college.

Profits from the fund are restricted to use as an in-kind contribution to the Programs and Services for Older Persons.

PSOP is supported largely by federal grant monies.

In a related move, the board voted to put the annual audit for 1978-79, 1979-80 and 1980-81 out for bids. It was pointed out that the board has traditionally let bids for a three-year period.

Rice, Sullivan and Co. has performed the audit for each of the last four years. James Hines, vice-president for administrative services, indicated that the college will advertise for bids for the audit.

DAR hears Capt. Ann Roberts

The Drusilla Andrews Chapter of the Daughter of American Revolution met over the weekend at Charlie's Restaurant.

Captain Ann Roberts, officer in charge of passenger service in the 375th air medical air-lift wing — Scott Air Force Base, was the guest speaker.

She spoke on "The Military Airlift Command, 375th Wing, and Women's Contributions to the Military and National Defense Historically and in the Present."

Capt. Roberts described the services provided by MAC noting no part of the world is inaccessible to its planes. With some of the huge planes that are available, MAC can transport supplies or equipment weighing up to 50 tons, she said.

Members learned that Scott Air Force Base is named in memory of an enlisted man rather than the customary officer. With the various changes in the Armed Services requirements, women now make up five percent of the service personnel.

Capt. Roberts has been in the service for seven years, and was a Latin teacher in Texas before changing her career. She was one of the first five women stationed in Korea and served there for 13 months. She is being honored this month as one of the "Outstanding Young Women for 1977." This is a non-military honor for which she was nominated, it was noted.

After a business meeting, under the direction of Mrs. Janet Wilson, regent, Mrs. Florence Simpson was welcomed as a new member.

Others presenting reports were Miss Ella Ray Smith and Mesdames Ruth McCarty, Eva Meier, and Lucille Butler.

Also in attendance were Miss Nelle Hart and Mesdames Madge Hansen, D. Reva Turner, Jane Ann Vanciel, Ruth Mitchell, Margaret Belt, Emma Schoen, and Barbara Williams.

Webster pupil reads 100 books

Dawn Marie Kostoff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard (Marie) Kostoff, 2541 Jerden Ave., was presented with a certificate of achievement from the Independent Reading Program at an assembly at Webster School.

A second grade pupil of Mrs. Lydia Aberli, Dawn is the first student at Webster to qualify for the Superintendent's Award, the highest award in the reading program. The youngster read a total of 100 books.

Dawn, together with other students in Granite City elementary schools who qualify for the award, will receive a special pin from Superintendent of Schools B. J. Davis at a special program later this year.

A total of 65 students at Webster School were presented certificates and level achievement seals at the assembly, the first of several, all-school gatherings planned during the school year for this purpose, James Jeffries, principal, advised.

Anchorage Senior Citizens held their annual Thanksgiving dinner last week in the recreation hall of the housing project. There 125 members and guests present for the festive holiday event.

Mrs. Georgia Butler, president, introduced guests Wesley Williams and Mr. Knight, custodians at the project, members of the office staff of Kirkpatrick Homes, Mrs. Ruby Corbitt, president of the Golden Age Circle Club, Mayor Paul Schuler, Everett Morlen, and Mr. and Mrs. Parker of Alton.

Everett Heinz is a patient at the Oliver Anderson Hospital in Maryville, it was announced.

Mayor Schuler invited the members to attend a dinner at the Eagles Aerie Hall and to make reservations with Mrs. Neva Werthe of Mrs. Corbitt. The president extended appreciation to Mayor and Mrs. Schuler for the table floral centerpiece, which was won by Clara Harrison and to Bob Thomas Memorial Mortuary for furnishing the turkey for dinner. The birthday flower was awarded to Aileen Phillips.

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE President Kenneth A. Shaw of SIUE emphasizes the importance of preparing for the future as a European Linden tree is dedicated on the campus to the memory of Ernest E. Tosovsky, business, civic and religious leader and a major contributor to the university. The tree, at left, was donated by employees of Home Nursery Greenhouses, founded by Mr. Tosovsky in 1923. The memorial includes a pair of concrete benches (behind Pres. Shaw), donated by the Edwardsville Rotary Club. Bronze plaques, imbedded in concrete in front of the benches, are gifts of the SIUE Foundation and the Slavic and East European Friends of SIUE. Representatives of the organizations and the Rev. Roger Simpson, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, joined Dr. Shaw in voicing tributes.

Grace Baptist musical Sunday

A performance of the musical, "Bright New Wings," will be presented at 7 p.m. Sunday at Grace Baptist Church, 2600 Edwards St.

Robert Patton, minister of music at the church, has extended an invitation to the public to attend the musical. The New Creation, Third Baptist Church's youth choir, will present the production, composed by recording artists, Cynthia Clawson and Ragan Courtney, and arranged by Buryl Red.

"Bright New Wings" takes the Biblical characters of Jesus, John, Martha, Lazarus, a sinful woman and a leper and places them in a historical, musical setting of the "old west."

An accompanying tape and stage lighting effects are utilized by the choral group to create the realistic production sequences, Patton said.

Sacred Heart seniors plan Christmas party

Arrangements for a Christmas dinner party set for 6 p.m., Dec. 19, were finalized at a monthly meeting of the Sacred Heart Senior Citizens Monday night.

President Earl Marti conducted the session held at the school and introduced new members, Dorothy Trower, Jack Trower, Martha Page, Thomas Kula and Myrtle Brun.

Reports were given by Elsie Hawk and Marie Stieb, during the business meeting. Games were played and prizes were awarded to Mary Lapinski, Rose Marie Breyer, Thomas Kula and Vi Strunk.

The meeting adjourned with a closing prayer by Francis Hawk followed by refreshments served to 28 members. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Hawk and Geri Barclay.

ERNEST E. TOSOVSKY FAMILY joins numerous friends in dedicating a memorial to Mr. Tosovsky on land formerly owned by the family on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. He was a major benefactor of the university and served on the SIU Foundation board of directors for more than 20 years until his death on March 31, 1977. Standing are his sons, Ernest (left) and Charles (Tosovsky, and seated are his widow (left) and his daughter, Mrs. Gene (Dorothy) Donner.

BIOLOGICAL RESEARCH. Prof. Annette Balch of the SIUE department of biological sciences has been involved for the last three years in research for the causes and cures of arthritis, cirrhosis of the liver and other diseases accompanying old age. According to her, until the mid-1950s, women had to show much better results in their research than their male counterparts and had to work twice as much in order to prove they were as good as men. There are now many women university professors.

Parental attitude affects extent of women's pursuit of higher learning

Since males constitute the majority of graduates, particularly in science fields, from institutions of higher learning, some of the women professors in science at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville have placed the responsibility on lack of parental and teacher support for children to focus their aim at these fields. Others blame society in general.

Gertraude Wittig, professor in the department of biological science, charges that society has always expected a woman "to be pretty and stupid." Prof. Wittig says such a negative image of the female is further strengthened when, as soon as she begins school, she is "counseled out of the science fields and counseled into non-science fields."

"What, if she refuses? Well, there is a good chance of her being ostracized by male students, according to another professor."

Nadine Verderber, assistant professor in mathematical studies, is one example of a person who endured such an experience.

In junior high, she said, one of the requirements for girls to be popular among boys was "not to be intelligent." In most of her mathematics and physics classes, Prof. Verderber said, she was the only female student.

"I was not popular among boys, and they always tended to avoid me," she said with a smile.

Coupled with their personal determination to succeed, beginning at the grade school level, the women professors in science at SIUE believe they have, in the process, proved that not only can they make it academically as their men colleagues do, but they can also do it with distinction.

In many cases, the label "the first this" or "the first that" accompanies them.

Annette Balch is an example. In 1960, she became the first woman Ph.D. in chemistry to graduate from the University of Oregon.

Charlotte Lee is another. As a black woman, she has the distinction of being recognized as a representative of two minorities.

In the chemistry department, she is the only woman and the only black professor. When she was working for her doctor of philosophy degree at the University of Kansas, she was the only black woman in the department.

Marilyn Livingston, a native of Canada, says that most of the time in her college years, she found she was the only female in class, particularly in physics.

Graduated with honors from the University of Alberta, Prof. Livingston won, in 1974, the Great Teacher Award at SIUE.

Prof. Wittig, a naturalized American, received her education in her native Germany. Although women's status in Germany leaves much to be desired, she said, German women fare much better than their American counterparts mainly because a law has existed in Germany that gives equal rights to all people regardless of sex.

"Discrimination was an openly admitted fact when I was in school," she said.

Prof. Verderber did, however, experience some pressure in school because of her sex. She said that as she normally found herself the only female student in math and physics classes during her high school years, "boys started avoiding me."

It was only her determination to succeed in the studies she loved that saw her through.

Now, she says, although there is no putdown of women professors by their male colleagues because they are women, a hostility, though mild, exists between professors who call themselves researchers and those who are merely teachers.

She said she feels that a certain kind of superiority complex is exhibited by the researchers over the "mere" teachers.

"I am just a teacher and I love it," she said, deadpan. Prof. Verderber received her Ph.D. from Ohio State in 1974.

Toffant fully qualified to upgrade law enforcement in county

No newspapers in Madison County endorsed Sheriff John Macraes for reelection in 1974. It wasn't necessarily a rejection of him or his staff regarding their individual abilities and knowledge. Nor has the county under the Macraes administration been plagued with the "wide open" notoriety of some past generations.

Partly because of financial limitations and partly due to other problems, including the ancient county jail (now in the process of being replaced), something less than an ideal performance level has been achieved, in 1974 and now. We would guess that the department itself would agree that this is so, to a degree.

It has not been possible in the past or present to provide the patrol and investigative manpower levels achieved by some police departments. Certainly, there is vast rural and semi-rural territory to be served, adding to the difficulty.

A new factor this year is the federal grand jury investigation that has been in progress for many months, studying allegations by deputies and others.

We have no "crystal ball" adequate to predict what, if anything, the jury will decide upon. But the confusion that has resulted from the inquiry is obvious, and it is being noted that the sheriff did not participate in the series of Democratic party interviews with prospective candidates held during the past weekend, nor was an endorsement made for the office.

What it boils down to is that some of the law enforcement procedural patterns that have become habitual, regardless of whose fault, are unsatisfactory to many residents and ought to be upgraded.

With filing occurring next month, and the primary election following less than three months after that, now seems an appropriate time to rally behind a person whose record indicates he could lead the way toward a new era of efficiency, safety and public confidence.

Emil J. Toffant of Madison, a retired state police captain and district commander, has announced his candidacy and seems fully qualified to strive for and attain at Edwardsville the professional law enforcement standards to which he has devoted his life here and statewide.

A member of the Madison police department from 1944 to 1950 and a state policeman from 1950 until his retirement in 1974, Toffant, 62, is well thought of everywhere for his hard work, skills and non-nonsense adherence to the laws as written.

Founder of a group that became the State Bureau of Special Investigation, he is assisted by a long record of successes. His commendations and the instances of his voluntary public service form long and impressive lists.

It's a long way between now and December 1978, when a newly-elected sheriff will take office. But we think the prospect of having Emil Toffant for sheriff is too good an opportunity for Madison County to pass up, and we wish there was a way some of his approaches to the job could be implemented even before the spring and November '78 balloting takes place.

Airport treats passengers better, lacks operating capacity

Post-Dispatch comment — The remarks of Secretary of Transportation Adams at the dedication of the new enclosed passenger concourse at Lambert Airport were so out of touch with reality that a determined measure of charity is indicated in assessing them. That being the case, we will simply describe them as superficial.

Mr. Adams said that the $25 million improvements have made him confident that he reached the correct decision in rejecting landbanking for a new airport at Columbia-Waterloo, Ill.

Let there be no doubt about the fact that the new concourse is a welcome addition at Lambert. But what does it add? It adds passenger convenience, period.

Amenities enhance an airport, but what they do not provide is operating capacity; and that is what Lambert desperately needs.

The money put into the new concourse, too, has nothing to do with the acceptability of the master plan for Lambert that federal authorities are now studying.

There are — in the opinion of experts — grave deficiencies with provisions of that plan and Mr. Adams' comments will not make it any easier for his subordinates to reach an impartial decision.

Finally, in light of Mr. Adams' assertion that "we'll be here tomorrow and from all indications we will be here for a long time in the future," we would recall another statement of his, presumably drafted in a more reflective, less heady moment. It is from his airport decision last March.

"In reaching this decision I cannot ignore the clear danger signals flowing from the recent studies of Lambert Airport capacity and demand."

"Unless steps are taken to expand the capacity of Lambert, peak-hour delays may become massive by the mid-1990s."

"Moreover, even if Lambert is upgraded along the lines of the Parsons Master Plan — and since no environmental impact statement for such a project has yet been prepared, it is impossible to know whether such an upgrading would be legally and environmentally acceptable — current forecasts indicate serious peak-hour delays may develop by the mid-1990s, forcing a reduction of service."

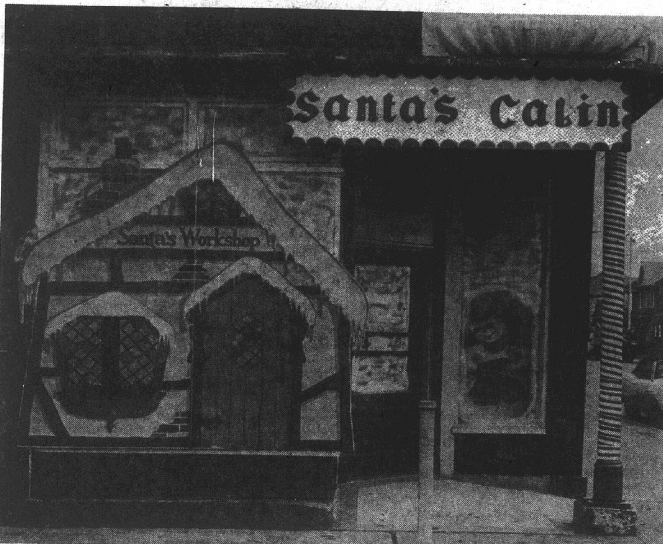

Those legal and environmental questions have yet to be resolved, and until they are Lambert's future is one of conjecture.

That being the case, there are serious issues of propriety raised by the secretary's remarks here.

Words alone cannot turn Lambert into an adequate airport for this region's commercial aviation future. If they could, the "Lambert forever" contingent would long ago have settled the issue.

Overdue amenities, too, which do so much to make travel less of an ordeal, are powerless to significantly increase an airport's capacity to handle traffic.

They are good to have, but they do not by themselves — Mr. Adams' comments to the contrary — add up to a case for foreclosing the possibility of building a better airport elsewhere.

SANTA'S CABIN IN MADISON gives a new look to the corner of Third Street and Madison Avenue. The cabin will be occupied by Santa every day, beginning Friday, from 3 p.m. until 6 p.m., and on Saturday from noon until 6 p.m. The cabin and Santa's appearance is sponsored by the Madison Business Association.

READY FOR SANTA. Finishing touches to Santa's Cabin at Delmar Avenue and 19th Street are being made today in preparation of Santa's arrival Friday in Granite City. The jolly old gentleman will lead a parade at 9 a.m. Friday, starting from his headquarters, along 19th Street, north on Madison Avenue and Nameoki Road to Bellemore Village Shopping Center, arriving there to greet children about 9:20 a.m., then on to Crossroads Shopping Center (9:45) and Nameoki Village Shopping Center (10:15). Santa will distribute candy treats, assisted by Officer Friendly Fred Hoffman, and return to his cabin at 11 a.m. Friday to hear Christmas wishes from youngsters beginning at noon. Downtown Merchants sponsor Santa's Cabin and the Associated Retailers arranged the parade.

Use permit poses question

When is a use permit not a use permit?

That was the dilemma posed to the Granite City Council Tuesday night after it had concurred in a list of zoning and use permit recommendations by the City Plan Commission.

Among the recommendations in which the council concurred was one denying either rezoning or a special use permit to Roger Miller, 3704 Johnson Road, who had sought a C-1 (commercial) classification for a special use permit to display safe in his garage as part of a locksmith business.

While the council action had the effect of denying Miller's request, a special use permit already had been granted to Miller by a council vote.

The council granted the permit Oct. 25 without a recommendation from the city Plan Commission at that time since the commission had not met in September or October.

Aldermen, however, were unaware at that time of a petition bearing about 125 signatures in opposition to the permit which had been prepared for presentation to the Plan Commission.

Although the permit had already been granted, the Plan Commission last Thursday received the petition, heard objections and went on record as opposing either commercial zoning or a special use permit to Miller.

Plan Commission Chairman Dave Morgan stated he did not know why the council had granted the permit, since city zoning ordinances prohibit special use permits being granted for property on two-lane streets.

But Alderman Sam Whitmer remarked that "This council has the final say on any rezoning or use permits under the zoning law."

Alderman Charles Douglas disputed this and said that a large number of special permits approved in past years by the council "were not legally approved."

Douglas said there is a term in the zoning law pertaining to special use permits for physicians and dentists and that it is not clear as to whether these are the only applicants who may obtain special use permits on a two-lane highway.

After the special use permit was granted to Miller on Oct. 25 on a motion by Alderman Ronald Coleman, a resident of the area appeared at the Nov. 1 council session to inform the council that a petition opposing the permit had been circulated, but there had been no meeting of the plan commission to oppose the request.

As a result, Whitmer moved to grant the permit to Miller be reconsidered. That motion was approved, but one to rescind the action granting the permit failed to carry.

As the discussion ended last night, Alderman Paul Bowler asked Mayor Paul Schuler if the permit granted to Miller "still stands."

The mayor said it did.

REPORT NOT ACCURATE

A report currently circulating that retired State Police Captain Emil Toffant was named in a 1975 Chicago area court action is unfounded, authorities verified today. Toffant, a candidate for sheriff in the 1978 Madison County Democratic primary, had no involvement in the traffic case.

Santa's hours in GC

The Christmas season will make its official debut in Granite City with the arrival of Santa Claus at his cabin, 19th Street and Delmar Avenue, at 9 a.m. Friday, and a parade following immediately to Bellemore Village (9:30 a.m.), Crossroads (9:45 a.m.) and Nameoki Village (10:15 a.m.) shopping centers.

Santa will hear the Christmas wishes of children at his cabin headquarters from noon until 5 p.m. Friday, closing from 3 to 4 p.m. to feed the reindeer, and from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m.

News notes

California authorities said a Marine Corps drill instructor was acquitted during the weekend of hazing and mistreating a recruit, Pvt. Victor N. Aldaz, 19, Granite City, who was burned when his trousers were doused with cigarette lighter fluid and ignited July 9 at Camp Pendleton. Aldaz earlier had been described as from East Chicago, Ind.

The sponsor of Equal Rights Amendment ratification in Illinois, State Rep. Alan Greiman, Skokie, said Tuesday the issue is dead for this session. He said 104 back the ERA, with 107 votes needed.

"Class X" legislation for specific prison terms on major crimes passed the Illinois Senate 47-12 last night.

S. H. "Bud" Sides, Marine, has been elected as chairman of the Madison County Special Education Committee, whose members include Glenn Abernethy, 297 Grand Ave., Granite City, and Mrs. Evelyn Tolliver, 1230 Klein St., Venice. The group is appointed by Supt. Harold E. Briggs of the Madison County educational service region.

Several weeks after urging steelmakers to file antidumping suits against unfair prices by foreign firms, the Carter administration this week disclosed a system of reference prices that would apply to Japanese steel. But the import volume may have altered by then, leaving the reference price plan ineffective or unnecessary, authorities say.

GASOLINE

New use for crop waste

By GORDON BILLINGSLEY

SPRINGFIELD — A Purdue University scientist has developed a new process he says could help convert nearly one billion tons of agriculture-related waste each year into alcohol.

The alcohol (ethanol) is the same as that proposed by many farmers for use as a gasoline-blended fuel, "gasohol," as a means of reducing an oversupply of grains.

The new process is twice as efficient as previous processes and could lead to up to $80 an acre of additional income for farmers, according to Professor George Tsoo, a chemical engineer.

The raw material for the process is cellulose fiber, available in corn stalks, soybean hulls or even unused portions of trees from the lumber industry, said Tsoo, who is also an agricultural engineer at Purdue's West Lafayette, Ind., campus.

He calls these materials "cellulosic waste."

Using "waste" is important, Tsoo said, because there is no competition for the materials from food manufacturers, as with grains used in making grain alcohol.

Wastes also provide a more stable supply of processors, he said, because the raw materials — crop residues — are less likely to be diverted to human use in times of poor crops.

The key to Tsoo's process is converting cellulose to sugar, from which alcohol can be fermented.

GRAND JURY MEETING

A press deadline check with federal officials indicated the jury was still in session today and had not returned any indictments or reports.

INFLATION PLAN
Urging a "new mobilization" against inflation, President Ford on Oct. 8, 1974, proposed a broad, basically conservative program to deal with the nation's sagging economy.

Chouteau may provide eyeglasses, meet dental needs of handicapped

Chouteau Township is proposing to use about $5,800 of Anti-Recession Fiscal Assistance Act grant funds from the federal government to provide eyeglasses and dental needs for low-income and handicapped individuals and families in the township.

Plan to help needy pay utilities 'unworkable'

A new state law intended to provide aid to persons whose heat or electricity are about to be turned off for non-payment of bills is turning out to be expensive and unworkable, Walter "Dick" Sparks, supervisor of Chouteau Township, told the township's Board of Trustees at a meeting Monday night.

Sparks explained that under a new state law, utility companies are required to notify a public health department or township supervisor five days before turning off anyone's electricity or gas in that area.

Since Madison County does not have a public health department, notification is to be sent to township supervisors, who then may try to use general assistance funds to help persons in need.

Sparks said the program began Nov. 2, and his office already has received a computer printout listing numerous persons in the area who are within five days of having utilities cut off.

A study of the printout showed three of four in Chouteau Township, but Sparks said it would be difficult, and potentially embarrassing, to contact these persons every month to see if they need help in paying their utility bills.

"We can not be concerned with all delinquencies. Most will not be cut off and most of those who are, probably will be apartment dwellers who are in the process of moving," he said.

"The only way we can help is if they come in here and ask for help," he added.

Sparks also said the bulky computer printouts of delinquent accounts being sent to all township supervisors is an expense which adds to utility bills.

He said Chouteau Township residents who are encountering difficulty paying their utility bills due to low income or disability should contact the township's general assistance office at 931-6360 to determine if they are eligible for funds to help pay the bills.

Chouteau Township Supervisor Walter "Dick" Sparks said he estimates the anti-recession fund will grow to over $5,000 before the end of the fiscal year, if the township continues to qualify for the program. He said he just completed a new application to attempt to keep Chouteau Township qualified.

If the federal government approves the use of the funds for eyeglasses and dental health needs, the township will have to call for a public hearing on the proposed use and to amend the township budget so it can be spent.

Trustee Tommy Johnson asked whether the funds could be used to maintain roads and clear snow and Sparks said they could.

"They also could be used to erect speed limit signs or on other programs, with the high-way superintendent's approval, but I feel this is a program which can benefit nearly every low-income and handicapped person in the township, while still meeting the program's new guidelines," he said.

He said anti-recession programs should be designed to maintain employees and levels of basic services now offered in the township.

Programs may include educational, highway, health, fire and police, sewage, urban renewal, administration, parks, utilities and other categories.

The date for a public hearing on the eyeglass and dental needs program has not been set.

Police, fire agreements rejected by GC council

Granite City Council members rejected Tuesday night proposed working agreements for the police and fire departments and sent the proposals back to the council's Negotiating Committee for further meetings with representatives of the two departments.

A vote of eight against and five in favor of the agreements resulted in each case when Alderman Warren Decatur, chairman of the Negotiating Committee, presented the proposals as "package" agreements.

It was the first time that proposals from union representatives of the two major city departments had been presented to the council as a package, although council members had voted on several previous occasions on individual items in each proposal.

A majority of the aldermen has stood pat against one clause concerning hospitalization insurance.

That term would have provided paid hospitalization for all retiring police officers with 20 years service until they were retired, regardless of retirement age. The insurance also would cover the officers' spouses during the same period. In discussions during a caucus session Monday night, police representatives agreed to some changes on this provision, limiting coverage to retired police officers on disability.

The council has not opposed the salary increase of 6 percent this year, 6 percent next year and 8.5 percent the third year of the three-year contract. The aldermen also have approved most other terms of the agreements.

Before acting on the agreements last night, the council went into a 30-minute caucus session in which the aldermen discussed the results of Monday night's caucus session. Decatur and Fred Schuman Jr., alderman of the Second Ward and a member of the Negotiating Committee, outlined cost figures involved in the health insurance proposal.

Most aldermen agreed they still could not approve the insurance provision because of the cost.

On a vote on the police proposal, those voting against it were Aldermen Sam Wilmer, Gerald Parnley, Roy Paulos, Earl Baker, Charles Douglas, Schuman, Lloyd Bailey and Mrs. Margaret Nann. Voting in favor were Aldermen Everett Morlen, Glen Sprankle, Paul Bowler, Decatur and Ronald Coleman.

The same vote was cast on a motion to approve the fire department proposal.

The new agreement for the Street Department was not submitted for a vote Tuesday night, pending further discussions. The department employees have been demanding longevity pay, similar to the program now in the police department, but this item also has been strongly opposed by council members.

Document charges forgery

Brenda D. Meyers, 28, St. Louis, was charged in an informational document from the Madison County state's attorney's office Tuesday with forgery.

The document alleges that she forged and attempted to cash a $276 check at First Granite City National Bank Friday evening and was stopped while allegedly attempting to leave the bank.

The check was on the account of the Valpar Corp., St. Louis, which is out of business and its building is being demolished.

Police believe some of the checks on the company's closed account may have been found during the building's demolition.

Other persons are alleged to have cashed checks.

Brenda Meyers' bond was set at $20,000 and Judge Gibbons denied a request to release her on her own recognizance. She was taken from the Granite City Jail to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville.

If a satisfactory contract offer might be obtained, EDA said, would consider an extension of time, Brewer said, but since the deadline is Tuesday, he feared the deadline might pass before EDA officials could act on the request.

The lowest general construction bid of $95,900 was submitted Nov. 9 by M.H. Wolfe Co. The other two bidders were Ed Moore Construction Co. at $1,080,000 and L. Wolf at $225,310.

Lowest of four bidders to supply security equipment and certain furnishings was the Pries Correctional Equipment Co. at $64,400. Butler Flooring Co. was the only bidder for flooring at $5,096.

Brewer said that by eliminating plans for a parking lot at the new building the city could cut out at least $50,000 of the bid. He said the elevator also was taken out of the plans and other minor changes or substitutions were made.

"I'm sure we can cut out more than $100,000 of the original bid cost without making any substantial change in the structural design of the building," Brewer told the aldermen.

He said all the contractors agreed to revise their offers on the basis of the plan changes and submit those bids in time for the 3 p.m. opening on Monday.

2 deputies suspended

Madison County Sheriff's Deputies Randall R. Lamb and Kenneth Richland Anderson, who have publicly made accusations of wrongdoings within the sheriff's department, have been suspended without pay for 30 days.

Sheriff John Maers said yesterday Lamb was suspended because of his personal finances and Anderson's suspension was the result of allegations by a woman who said she was beaten.

Some deputies say the suspensions are a form of harassment of those who have cooperated with federal authorities in a grand jury investigation into allegations about the sheriff's department. Officials of the department deny any harassment.

Lamb and Anderson have been suspended on television and have been quoted in area newspapers. After initial publicity, both were transferred from patrol duty to guard duty in the Madison County jail, they said.

A spokesman for the sheriff this morning detailed the charges against the two deputies, saying they are the result of lengthy internal investigations and that the deputies have been suspended while the Merit Commission reviews the charges.

Evidence against Lamb allegedly consists of wage assignments, which creditors are attempting to execute against his paycheck, the spokesman said.

Allegations against Anderson are said to stem from incidents related to a threat and beatings. There also are several allegations stemming from statements Anderson is said to have made during a conversation with Lamb in the Watertown, Hole Tavern, Edwardsville, Oct. 23 of this year.

It is alleged Anderson referred to an official as "a drunk" and that Anderson threatened retaliation against department members if they caused him trouble.

The department spokesman said, "The people of Madison County have a right to expect that the law enforcement personnel are beyond reproach in both their personal and public lives."

Lamb and Anderson are believed to deny any conduct justifying action against them by the Merit Commission.

Home repair funds sought by Venice

A request for $100,000 in Community Development funds to finance a citywide housing rehabilitation program was made by the Venice City Council in regular meeting Tuesday night.

The action followed a public hearing on the use of Community Development monies as part of a new Madison County program now being developed.

At the same time, the council agreed to include a request for $50,000 to be used later in building a combined senior citizens and community center.

Mrs. Izola Robinson, administrative aide to Venice Mayor William Ebersoldt said, "We hope to do more work inside of some of these homes such as the ceilings, windows and walls. There are a lot of elderly people who just can't afford to have this type of work done."

"Applications to have work done are made through the mayor's office, and I will be more than willing to help anyone with his application. It must be remembered that this money has not been approved yet, and may not be."

"We have a very active Community Development Committee and it is important that the citizens let them know what needs to be done," she said.

It was noted that monies, if granted, can't be used for rental property.

"I am very pleased to see so many people here tonight with ideas. Working together we can continue to make our city a fine place to live," Mayor Ebersoldt said.

"We are looking into all the areas we can think of to get financial aid for a community center as well as other projects.

Sometimes we can get money and sometimes we can't, but rest assured we are always in there trying," Ebersoldt said.

Mrs. Barbara Anderson, president of the Concerned Citizens for Children's Culture, spoke to the council about a "Breakfast with Santa" to be held on Dec. 24 at the school for Venice children. She asked the city officials to give their annual Christmas candy treat at this program, rather than at the city garage or the bridge office. The council concurred.

A business license was approved for "Sweet Emma's Sweet Shop" at 404 Broadway, operated by John Henry Williams.

A license for a shoe shine shop at 1101 Logan St. was approved. It will be operated by Clarence Saddler, 133 Lee St.

The council was invited to a National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) tea to be held in the Venice Recreation Center from 3:30 p.m. until 5:30 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 4.

The council approved ordering two Ford LTD II cars for $6,976 from "Bo" Beckman, Ford, the low bidder.

Mayor Ebersoldt reported that the repair of sidewalks has begun and the contractor will repair the worst areas first and keep working until the monies run out.

"We received a $48,000 grant to repair sidewalks. We really need twice that much but this will at least take care of some of our worst areas, and it's a good start," Mayor Ebersoldt said.

A police report for October showed a total of 30 adult arrests and 20 juvenile arrests with $779 being collected in fines from the circuit clerk's office.

Venice hoping to rebound this season under new coach

When you're the coach of a high school basketball team that was the state champion two years ago, you've got to be pretty optimistic, right?

That is the case with Venice coach Ken Perkins, but not for the same reasons you're probably thinking of. The reason for that sandwiched in between the beginning of this season and that state championship year were two lackluster campaigns, including last season's 3-21 mark.

"Oh, we're REAL quick," he said. "In fact I think we're just about as quick a team that I've ever seen."

THAT QUICKNESS may have to carry the Red Devils a long way this year. It's almost a sure bet that experience won't. "We have some guys back," said Perkins. "And we have even some back from two years ago that didn't go out last year."

"Most of the guys that started last season were freshmen and sophomores," he added. "They have game experience, but haven't matured physically and don't have a lot of their coordination yet."

"If we can get it together by the time the regional's roll around, we can be a real threat." PERKS shouldn't be too much of a problem for the Devils this year. Their center, Frank Pace, is a 6-4 senior who, according to Perkins, is "a real strong and a very good inside shooter. He plays a tough inside game."

The two forwards go 6-3 and 6-

1. The taller one is Ricky Jones, he's a junior who is a "good jumper, and an exceptional shooter," according to Perkins.

RICK SALLMOND is the other forward. Perkins feels that Sallmond may be the "best overall athlete we have. He's a fine floor leader who has been around here for a long time... it almost seems as if he's been a starter forever."

"Sallmond's experience may rub off on some of the other players," said Perkins. "At least I hope it does. He's got a lot of savvy out there on the floor."

THE GUARDS will probably be a couple of 5-10 juniors, Reggie Mathis and Anthony Wise. Perkins said that both are good outside shooters and are exceptionally quick.

"I think our guards will be the quickest part of our ball club," he said. "We'll have to make up for some other weaknesses at the beginning with our quickness."

That beginning referred to by Coach Perkins is one that starts

Tuesday, Nov. 29 on the road at St. Paul-Highland. Then on Dec. 2, the annual rivalry with Madison renews at Madison at 4 p.m. (There will be no junior varsity game with Madison).

After the Madison game, the Red Devils travel to St. Louis for a clash with Sumner High. "I think that the first three games will tell an awful lot about our guys," said Perkins. "We have enough talent, but I think it could take us a while to put it all together."

BESIDES the five players that have already been mentioned, there are three who Perkins feels could have an impact on the team this year.

They are Eddie Fleig, a 5-11 guard, Terry Arnold, a 6-1 guard and Don Gardner, a 6-1 forward. "They all could come in at any time and do the job for us," said Perkins. "They all hustle well and I expect good things from them."

PERKINS should not be a stranger to Venice basketball fans. He was an assistant coach for two years there from 1973 to 1975. He then left to take an assistant coaching position at Oakland City College in Indiana for two years. Now he's returned.

"We've set four goals for our team this season," he said. "To win 16 games, win one of the two tournaments we're in, beat Madison in the regional and give 110 per cent all of the time."

"If we do the last one, the others will take care of themselves."

In girls' volleyball... South beats North; districts are next

The GCHS South Warriors volleyball team handed their cross-town rivals, the North Stedekers, a four-sided defeat last night at North.

The South varsity won by scores of 20-2 and 20-4, while the junior varsity squad won two straight, 20-4 and 20-2. It was the final game of the season for each team.

Competition in the fourth annual Illinois High School Association girls' state volleyball tournament gets under way Monday, Nov. 28, in both Class A and Class AA series.

District winners will advance to the sectional tournaments. The seven sectional winners will then move on to super sectionals on Dec. 13.

The combined state finals (both A and AA) will be weekend of Dec. 15-17 (Thursday-Saturday) at Horton Fieldhouse on the campus of Illinois State University in Normal.

Both Granite City North and South are entered in the East St. Louis Senior Class AA district tournament. Play in that district doesn't get under way until Tuesday, Nov. 29.

There will be two matches on Tuesday. The first pits South against East St. Louis Lincoln at 6:30 p.m. The second will feature North against East St. Louis Senior immediately following the first match.

The winners of the first two matches will clash on Wednesday, Nov. 30, at 7:30 p.m. The winner of the East St. Louis district will advance to

First Thanksgiving held 200 years ago

THE WHITE HOUSE THANKSGIVING DAY, 1777 BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

APPROXIMATION Although the first years of America's struggle for independence were often disheartening, in their cause, or in themselves.

Upon learning of the American victory at Saratoga in 1777, Samuel Adams composed the first national Thanksgiving proclamation, and the Continental Congress called upon the governors of every state to designate a day when all Americans could join together and express their gratitude for God's providence.

With united hearts. By their actions, they extended a revered regional custom into a national tradition.

Precisely two centuries have now passed since that time. We have landed a continent, established institutions dedicated to protecting our liberties, and secured a place of leadership among nations.

But we have never lost sight of the principles upon which our Nation was founded. For that reason we can look to the future with hope and confidence.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, JIMMY CARTER, President of the United States of America, in accord with Section 6103 of Title 5 of the United States Code, do hereby proclaim Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 24, 1977, as Thanksgiving Day.

I ask all Americans to gather on that day with their families and neighbors in their homes and in their hearts of worship to give thanks for the blessings Almighty God has bestowed upon us.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand this eleventh day of November, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred seventy-seven, and of the Independence of the United States of America the two hundred and second.

Befuddled by bureaucracy? Study says you're not alone

(Press-Record Washington Bureau)
Befuddled by the bureaucracy? Frustrated by "federalism"? Irrate at the wait?
If misery truly loves company, constituents beating their heads against the doors of unresponsive bureaucracies can take solace in the knowledge they are not alone. Even Congressional clout is insufficient to open some doors, according to a survey taken at the direction of President Carter.

Richard Pettigrew, the president's assistant for reorganization, asked congressmen to sound off—either on-the-record or off—about their gripes in dealing with the executive branch.

They were asked to identify programs and agencies causing the most constituent complaints of inefficiency, confusion, excessive paperwork and general program failure.

There were responses from more than 200 congressional offices, including nine from Illinois.

In fairness to the bureaucrats, as Mr. Carter noted, "Congressional casework highlights trouble spots and may not present a full picture of agency performance."

Some agencies may be overworked, understaffed or trapped in a system which has not kept pace with changing needs.

But the Congressional comments clearly show Mr. Carter's administration has yet to make a real dent in the problems which plague his predecessors—and which he talked about at length in the campaign.

If senators and representatives cannot get through, who can? Illinois' senior senator, Republican Charles Percy, was particularly perplexed by the Labor Department's Occupational Safety and Health Administration, which inspects and regulates business and industry.

Percy finds OSHA to be the least efficiently administered and among the most confusing and less successful federal agencies. His complaint is that the agency suffers from an excess of both regulations and paperwork.

Rep. Robert McClory, R-Lake Bluff, also puts OSHA at the head of the most confusion list, followed by welfare, the community-sponsored programs of Housing and Urban Development, and the environmental-related agencies.

Among the less effectively administered, McClory says, are HUD, Health, Education and Welfare, the post office, the Immigration and Naturalization Service and the Internal Revenue Service.

The complaints are not purely partisan.

Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, a Chicago Democrat and the chief deputy whip, apparently needs more than a whip to stir action in some quarters.

Heading his "less effectively administered" list are the Postal Service and the INS. He faults the service for not delivering mail in a reasonable amount of time. He says there is no consistency in delivery time for the same classes of mail, and complains that too many packages are lost or damaged.

One of the INS problems cited by Rostenkowski is a lack of staff at the regional office. He said it takes two months for the Chicago regional office to even acknowledge an inquiry from a congressman.

The service spends half of its budget on deporting illegal aliens, primarily Mexicans, and too little for staff, he believes. He also complains that federal judges in Chicago are not handling naturalization cases at a fast enough clip. He said the judges now are only taking about 175 of the 300 people who become eligible weekly.

Noting that 1,000 persons were expected to be naturalized on Constitution Day, he asks: "If this can be done for this particular day, why cannot the volume per week by the judges be greater?"

His end of the state is not the only section with problems. Rep. Paul Simon, D-Carbondale, finds the big problem in his southernmost district to be the "black lung" program for coal miners administered by the Labor Department.

"Absolutely ridiculous...total mismanagement," is Simon's assessment of the program. There are too many delays in processing cases, and administrators fail to respond, despite repeated inquiries, he said.

The Illinois comments mirror sentiments of disapproval from other congressmen about the most frequent disability, OSHA, Immigration and Naturalization and the IRS' complex tax forms.

What will happen now with these volumes of congressional opinion? Will they be carefully collected, analyzed and left to gather dust on a shelf? Officials say each federal department and agency has been sent a set of the Congressional comments.

The bureaucrats are to report by Dec. 5 to the Office of Management and Budget on steps either being taken or planned to deal with the problems identified in the survey.

Those reports are to form the basis for a report to Congress.

To give thanks is not only a happening that embraces the whole purpose of creation within itself; it is also an experience. He who thanks God with his whole heart experiences something. He is himself enriched. All too often we think we are destitute of joy and fortune. Our lives seem empty and unsatisfied, and we know not why. Now take a look at yourselves. The times of poverty within are the times when you do not give thanks to God. What life brings has no value in itself. It acquires value only by our giving thanks to God. Today at the harvest Thanksgiving it is not those who have gathered much into their barns who are rich. Those who thank God much are the truly wealthy. So our inner happiness depends not on what we experience but on the degree of our gratitude to God, whatever the experience. Your life is something opaque, not transparent, as long as you look at it in an ordinary human way. But if you hold it up against the light of God's goodness, it shines and turns transparent, radiant and bright.

Losses by some farms in state

Farm income is the number one concern of farmers in Illinois today, according to Illinois Assistant Director of Agriculture Ray Lett.
Lett, along with State
Agriculture Director John
Block met with leaders of the state's major farm organizations last week in Springfield.

Primary purpose of the meeting was to inform the leaders of the results of Block's recent market evaluation trip to countries of the European Economic Community.
Block Lett and State
Agriculture Marketing
Superintendent Gib Fricke, who accompanied Block to Europe, met with Harold Steele, president of the Illinois Farm Bureau, Harold Dodd, president of the Illinois Farmers Union,
John Kilian, of the Illinois
Livestock Association, and Kenneth Strenlau, president of the Illinois National Farmers Organization.

Richard W. Davidson, superintendent of the department's administrative division, and Tom Crawford, superintendent of the department's regulatory division, also attended.
Lett said, "Farm income is lower today than it has been over the past four or five years, and farmers are finding that their costs are beginning to rise while their profits are going down rapidly."
"In fact, some farmers who have had a few bad crop years are in a less situation. There are other farmers who have had good yields and are still only barely able to make the cost of production—there is nothing left to buy new machinery with, let alone new furniture for the home or a vacation for the family."

"I'm talking about farmers who have hundreds of thousands of dollars invested in land and equipment and who are seeing no return."
"The representatives of the farm groups were especially interested in the market in Western Europe for processed foods—packaged cuts of meat, canned and frozen products,
even specialty items like pizza."
"All of these things when taken in the aggregate can have a significant impact on our agricultural exports and the farm dollar."

"We are the number one ag exporting state in the country and I can tell you that our farm organizations as well as the Department of Agriculture are determined that Illinois will hold that position. They are convinced that the director's trip is a positive step toward that end."

The farm leaders expressed varying degrees of enthusiasm for federal over-reaction and over-regulation in some areas.
The level of nitrites and nitrates in cured meats is one of these areas.

Other matters of concern to the farm leaders included soil surveys and conservation practices. Farmers said they want to know the condition and makeup of the land and are concerned about maintaining its productivity.

Farm leaders were also concerned about what they felt was federal over-reaction and over-regulation in some areas.
The level of nitrites and nitrates
in cured meats is one of these areas.

Looks handsome, stays handsome through years of rocking.

Beautiful Early American hand turnings and today's popular massive look make our Tell City Big Boy one of the most handsome rockers on the market today. The generous use of hard rock maple with matching veneered back splats adds to the fine-furniture look. And also makes the rocker extra-sturdy. A good choice for a good-sized person who likes to do a lot of rocking. Comfortable shaped seat and back. A fine value in a fine rocker.

• We want you to get what we advertise, so we plan ahead to have ample supplies. If a sell-out occurs, just see our Cashier for a 30-day sale-price "RAIN-CHECK".

• Our policy: Each advertised item is required to be readily available for sale at or below the advertised price at all stores listed, unless specifically otherwise noted in this ad. (Our "As Advertised" store signs point them out to you.)

• Special sale-period prices are indicated by "Sale" or coupons. Any others are our low everyday Walgreen prices. Some regular prices quoted may vary at some stores. (Right reserved to limit quantities on all items.)

PLEASE SHOP EARLY!

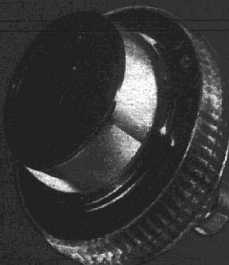

Sometimes it happens: Sold Out. Ordinarily, you'd get a "Rain Check", but at Christmastime so many holiday items are ONE-TIME BUYS, not reorderable. So be early, and be sure you get what you came for!
